San Clemente Turns Off Street Lights; Oust Firemen

BANK FAILS TO PRODUCE NEEDED CASH

Council Takes Drastic Action and Mayor Assails Bank of America

SAN CLEMENTE, the Spanish Village built by Ole Hanson was a virtual bankrupt today following drastic action of the city council last night in eliminating with one sweep all but five of the major functions of the city.

It took the council but eight minutes to read and adopt a resolution which swept aside all city functions but those of the police department, water department, tax department, municipal judge and city clerk.

Action of the council eliminated all city rentals, operation of the golf course and caddy house, maintenance of the streets, plaza, beach club, social club, beach, pier, ornamental trees, street lights and paid fire department. The drastic action goes into effect November 1 and continues until the city has all outstanding debts paid and has enough money to continue the activities eliminated.

Outstanding warrants of the city of San Clemente total $22,081.94 and there are no funds to pay such warrants. The city's credit has been exhausted, the resolution said.

Bank Fails to Pay

The Bank of America of San Clemente, holding company for the America National Trust and Savings company, which is said to have possession of 40 per cent of the property in the Spanish Village, and which owes the city $27,919.95 in delinquent tax assessments, today still had failed to come to the aid of the city by paying the city $2500 to meet the city payroll, as it was reported had been promised.

It was brought out that the Bank of America owes the city of San Clemente delinquent taxes over a period of the last six years amounting to about $125,000. It was receipt of part of this fund with which the city council had hoped to stave off bankruptcy, it was said.

Mayor Raps Bank

In a scathing statement made today, Mayor A. T. Smith of San Clemente said, "It has become increasingly evident that you cannot go into a single city in California without feeling the grasping tentacles of the Bank of America. I believe that the city will straighten itself out in time, and once again be the ideal spot in which to live on the Pacific Coast."

"Since 1932," the mayor declared, "we have carried the bank's load absolutely alone. Without immediate help we can no longer do so. We are fighting not merely for San Clemente, but for the entire Orange county coast, of which San Clemente is an important part. It

THOUSANDS IN CUBA FLEE AS STORM RAGES

(Copyright, 1935, by United Press)

HAVANA, Oct. 22.—(UP)—A hurricane, tipped its way northeastward across the eastern tip of Cuba today. Wire communications were torn down. Heavy seas hammered the coast and thousands of people moved inland for refuge. Others took shelter in the strongest buildings towns afforded.

The United States navy station at Guantanamo was just off the direct path of the hurricane. Communication between Havana and the naval station was severed at 11 p. m. when the navy's wireless station failed.

Infrequent wireless messages from less affected portions of Oriente, the eastern province, reported the wind to be increasing steadily in intensity.

The storm first was reported Sunday night, 250 miles southwest of Jamaica. It passed eastward of Jamaica.

DECORATIONS FOR STREETS ARE ORDERED

Christmas Wreaths and Colored Lights for Santa Ana are Planned

DETAILED arrangements for making the business streets of Santa Ana the most beautiful and colorfully decorated of any Christmas season in the past were practically completed by a special committee from the merchants division of the chamber of commerce last night which journeyed to Hollywood to make the arrangements. It was announced today by Chairman J. H. Bell of the merchants division.

Eighteen blocks of the downtown business district will be lighted and decorated this year, Bell announced. Huge Christmas wreaths, each containing 18 colored lights, will be placed on ornamental light poles. Above these wreaths two large Christmas stars will shine in harmonious colors.

The Hollywood concern which will furnish the decorations is the same firm which lighted the San Diego exposition and which does lighting and decorating for major motion picture studios. While the Hollywood concern will furnish the materials, all of the work in installing the decorations will be given to local men, Bell said.

The lighting and decorations this year will be more elaborate than ever before, merchants of the city believing that this city will experience the best merchandising

600 WALK OUT IN 2 FISH CANNERIES

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Approximately 600 workers of two fish canneries struck for higher wages and union recognition today. Strikers threw out picket lines around both plants. Extra police were on duty, but the walkout began with no disturbance. Canneries where the workers struck, the California Packing and Franco-Italian plants, held out after three other canneries capitulated last night to union demands.

There was little picketing activity at the two canneries, anyway, at present, the canners said, so the walkout affected their little. Twelve extra policemen patrolled the cannery area on Terminal Island since dawn, fearing violence, but the strike was called quietly. Employees simply failed to report to work, and orderly picket lines were drawn around the plants.

Sen. Olson In Charges Against Standard Oil

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22.—Sen. Culbert Olson, chairman of the committee probing conditions in the state-owned tidelands in Huntington Beach, declared at the hearings in Los Angeles yesterday that he is opposed to any settlement with the Standard Oil company.

He declared he believed the Standard was trespassing on state property and that the Standard Oil company had hired a state investigator and threatened to cite the same engineer for contempt. The hearing adjourned late yesterday, subject to call of the chair, following a wide open break between members of the committee.

Dissension in the committee reached its peak when Edgar Stow, Santa Barbara Senator, charged Senator Culbert L. Olson of Los Angeles, chairman of the group, with making a political football of the oil inquiry. Senator Olson retorted by attacking his colleague's record and alignment in the senate.

TOWNSEND'S SINGLAI, FISH CONVENTION TO OPEN THURSDAY

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—(UP)—The vanguard of more than 3,000 delegates to the National convention called by Dr. F. E. Townsend, originator of the plan to pay each person over 60 years of age an income of $200 a month, reached Chicago today.

Half of the delegates are expected by tonight, officials at convention headquarters said. The remainder, arriving by special bus and train, will be here Wednesday and Thursday.

Three state officials and the president of a labor union have been scheduled as principal speakers for the four-day session which starts Thursday, officials announced today.

Arbuckle to Speak

State Senator Frank Arbuckle of California will speak Thursday. Lieut. Gov. M. C. Townsend of Indiana and Ott Cases, Washington state treasurer, are on the program Friday and Saturday.

Sunday afternoon A. F. Whitney, president of the four railroad brotherhoods, will share the platform with Dr. Townsend at the International amphitheater.

Other speakers include: R. E. Clements, national secretary of the Townsend organization; Home Schwinger, a regional official; Ralph Higgins of Seattle; Charles T. Murdock of Pennsylvania; George C. Highley of Los Angeles; N. J. Roberts of the Florida organization; W. H. Jackson, Indiana Negro leader; Sheridan Downey, Sacramento, Cal.; Judge Gomer Smith, Oklahoma.

OPENING GUN IS FIRED AT NOON PARLEY

Water Leaders in Meeting Vote to Circulate Petitions for Ballot

THE OPENING gun in a new campaign to put over a $6,620,000 bond issue in Orange county in order to save a government grant of $6,574,000 "earmarked" for the county until December 20, was fired this afternoon when a group of about 40 water leaders who favored the bonds in the first election which was defeated, met and decided to circulate petitions asking the board of supervisors to call the second water conservation and flood control election.

A motion made by Ralph Chafe, Garden Grove, that the water leaders circulate the petitions and then present them to the board of supervisors carried unanimously. Then the leaders proceeded to make arrangements to organize and to conduct a vigorous campaign on behalf of the bonds.

George Kellogg, member of a committee named to arrange today's meeting, said at the meeting that the legality of the board of supervisors calling this second election inside a period of six months from the first election, is yet subject to confirmation.

W. H. Spurgeon presided at the meeting, and outlined the developments which led to the present movement to ask the supervisors, who are willing to do so call another election.

It was explained that it is believed that the supervisors, representing the county, can legally call this second election, which must be held December 20. As directors of the Orange County Flood Control District, which comprises the entire county, the supervisors could not call an election on the same subject for a period of six months.

Questioned as to whether the same program put before the voters at the first election would be presented the second time, Spurgeon replied that the grant of the government is predicated on the definite plan (the Orange county flood control and water conservation plan based on the Elliott plan) and that if the plan were changed at all, it would be necessary to have the state and federal boards of engineers pass on it again. There is not time to do this, he said.

Thomas Pickrell said he had contacted the water users of Orange county, the group that opposed the program before, and that an official of the group had told him that they would not oppose the program.

Singclair said he was extending his end poverty and production for use programs to the entire country. At the conclusion of his

IL DUCE SOON TO OPEN PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

(Copyright, 1935, by United Press)

ROME, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Trustworthy quarters expressed belief today that Premier Benito Mussolini soon would be ready to open negotiations for settlement of the entire Italian-Ethiopian dispute.

Mussolini was said to be willing to settle the dispute on condition that Britain withdrew its Mediterranean fleet, the League of Nations postpone action on penalties and Italy was permitted to "consolidate" territory already conquered.

It seems obvious that the conditions would not be acceptable to Great Britain, the League of Nations or to Ethiopia. But after days of mysterious hints and reports of peace proposals, it was significant that even such a feeler was put out here.

It is felt that the first necessity is to make sure that tension in the Mediterranean really is eased as the result of last week's Italian-French-British negotiations. Italians seemed looking toward Paris for a lead.

The army seems preparing for the conquest of Ogaden province in southeastern Ethiopia, without awaiting the result of any peace negotiations. It is indicated that Mussolini would like to get control of Ogaden and Tigre provinces before negotiations proceed beyond discussion of the Mediterranean.

It seems that there is difficulty

REPORTS SAY "HUNDREDS" ARE KILLED

Warriors Chafe at Inaction and Charge Enemy; Leader Is Wounded

LONDON, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Ethiopian warriors chafed by inaction and retreat revolted against the veteran Dedjazmach Ayeleu in the far north and charged into a death trap near the Sudan border, the Exchange Telegraph correspondent Addis Ababa reported today.

Ayeleu was wounded seriously and "hundreds" of his rebellious followers whom he led their insistence into battle were reported killed.

Runners who carried the word to Addis Ababa were unable to estimate the number of casualties but said the reckless Ethiopians were shot down by hundreds by machine guns of an Italian mountain unit.

The messengers said Ayeleu, following strategy laid down by Emperor Haile Selassie's advisors—retreat that would draw invaders into unfamiliar country far from supply bases—tried to dissuade his warriors from the attack but consented to lead them when convinced they were out of hand.

Correspondents of both the Exchange Telegraph and the News Chronicle in Addis Ababa agreed that the expected big battle on the northeastern front would break in less than two weeks. The Exchange Telegraph correspondent said War Minister Mulateta of Ethiopia, en route to Dessale or Makale, now, would command almost 1,000,000 men when the engagement occurs.

Mulgeta and Ras Siyoum, now in command of the front, have agreed to venture everything on a defense of the central plateau escarpment just south of Makale. Ethiopians believe the Italians will deflect their front to strike southwestward across the Danakil desert.

The News Chronicle said arms and ammunition were pouring into Ethiopia at a rate that might make the defenders' terrifically damaging to invaders. Automatic rifles will be issued this week to non-commissioned officers, the correspondent said, and virtually every man of regular troops on the Tigre province front has a modern rifle and a fair supply of ammunition.

KEATON'S CONDITION SERIOUS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Physicians today saw "The Immediate Danger" for Buster Keaton, frozen-faced film comedian suffering from pneumonia and a nervous breakdown.

Doubt was expressed, however, that he ever would be able to resume his solemn brand of clowning. Keaton, a World War soldier, was in a psychopathic ward at the Sawtelle veterans' hospital under constant observation.

LET'S GET TOGETHER ON THE WATER PROBLEM!

(AN EDITORIAL)

There is an opportunity at the present time to move toward unity which means the complete solution, finally, of our flood control and water problem.

We have just passed through an election, in which there was an expression of some 40 per cent of the people, and the expression, by the majority, by no means could be construed as being at all satisfied with the project that was presented, but there was no other alternative.

There were many people who voted for the bond issue, who were anxious to obtain government money, and yet whose business judgment did not endorse, at all, the complete plan as outlined.

There were others who voted because they were personally to be benefitted in a part of the program, and they voted for their own personal interest, even though other parts of the program did not commend themselves to their judgment.

We believe that, out of the complete discussion, some facts have been made so clear, that a unity could be reached with a modified program which would reap practically all the benefits and yet leave the county in a position where it will have credit power to get additional water, that is not provided for in this program.

We believe there is substantial agreement that a flood control dam should be placed in the Upper Santa Ana river. But good business sense would suggest that that flood control dam should be built for the purposes of protection and for the least amount of money possible, not only for the construction of the dam, but also for the rights-of-way incident to it.

The biggest flood that has been known for many, many years, probably for half a century, was the 1916 flood.

If a dam were provided for, not several times the requirements of that big flood, but slightly larger than the requirements of that largest flood, certainly it would appeal to good business sense.

To be sure, engineers, whether they are outlining the building of dams or the erecting of school buildings, very easily multiply the requirements by two or three or four, and, in this case, they multiplied it by two and a half. They do not pay the bills.

Reduce the size of the dam to a little larger than necessary to take care of the largest known flood we have ever had! This would be ample, because we have a dam already erected in the Santiago creek which protects us to the extent, certainly of 12,000 or 15,000 acre feet.

If a dam would be erected in the Upper Santa Ana river, covering from 80,000 to 90,000 acre feet, it would then, with the protection from the Santiago, approximate 100,000 acre feet, which is 20,000 acre feet greater than any estimate we have ever had of any flood.

A dam, of this size and for this purpose, could be constructed for not over a third of the amount of money estimated in the late program, and with a corresponding reduction in the rights-of-way, which would save a great deal more money.

When one realizes that the Metropolitan Water district has paid, so far, some $90,000, we believe, for rights-of-way, the amount of over three millions of dollars, that is asked for in this program, appears to us unreasonable and fantastic.

The land that is needed should be condemned for the purpose needed, and it can be utilized during most of the time in the future for the same agricultural purposes for which it is used now.

By the reduction of the size of the dam, we would have a correspondingly reduced acreage needed and for the brief period that it would ever be inundated, the expense or damage would be slight indeed.

The dam in the San Juan creek would be distinctly beneficial to the people of the southern part of the county. The protection for Fullerton, in the dam there, would be adequate.

If the program could be pretty much confined to these three enterprises, with only enough in the Santa Ana river for the protection from floods, instead of having a bonded indebtedness upon Orange county of between six and seven million dollars, we would have the actual values attained, that were comprehended in this program, for certainly not beyond 33 1-3 per cent of the former proposed bond issue.

All that is needed is a fair consideration given the business end of the matter.

Do not see how big a proposition we can get and how much money we can spend, but how we can achieve the protection and the water in the San Juan creek at the most moderate price!

The government has "earmarked" this money, we understand. It is furnishing two dollars to our one for construction.

The total expenditure, on construction, need not be more than four to five million dollars.

By the multiplicity of projects and making the Santa Ana river dam several times any possible need, the original cost for construction, besides the interest, was between nine and ten million dollars.

It should be borne in mind, of this amount, Orange county was to pay but one-third. It also should be borne in mind that the total amount of the bond issue, for Orange county, was to what the Federal government was to put up.

How did this come about? It was by an estimate, by the Board of Supervisors, that they wanted as much money, for the county to pay for rights-of-way, as the county was going to put into the construction of the dam. This, of course, is ridiculous and good business should demand a revamping of the program.

We are all in favor of the protection of property and life from floods. We are all in favor of the saving of as much water as possible, anywhere, though, as a business proposition, those who get the benefit from water should pay for it.

But we must unite upon some program, and we should take into consideration the debts that are now upon us, and the obligations already entered into. We certainly should insist, in the light of those obligations, and in the light of the fact that we must go after more water than this program affords, that we shall do it in the most economical and business-like manner possible.

This would suggest that we do not build "political" dams; that we do not build flood control dams larger than are necessary, and that we do not spend the people's money for rights-of-way into millions more than are necessary.

If there is a real desire for flood control and for the solving of this water problem, it can be solved, and unity can be had.

But we do not believe it can be had by a program that suggests that the county shall put in as much money for rights-of-way as it does for construction, nor that burdens shall be added to Santa Ana and Fullerton, without any corresponding benefit that is almost equal to that which they have assumed under the Metropolitan Water district.

Revamp the plan, cut down the amounts and those cities undoubtedly would be willing to add something to their burden. But leave the county in such financial condition that it can go after that additional water, which all intelligent people know we must get!

SAN CLEMENTE STREET LIGHTS EXTINGUISHED

has come to the point that the city is not our child, although we have weaned it, cared for it since its building, but we are not able to continue caring for it independently."

Manager G. J. Hamilton of the San Clemente branch of the Bank of America, refused today to make a statement regarding the bank's position. "I have absolutely no statement to make regarding the tax situation of the bank, either to the press or to an individual," he asserted.

Political Deadlock

It was rumored that the general cessation of municipal activities at San Clemente came as a result of a deadlock between political factions of the city. It also was pointed out that the city is maintaining a police force of four officers in a city which has a population estimated at around 750 persons, and also is maintaining the municipal judge, reportedly for a source of revenue.

Former Mayor Oliver Robertson was quoted as saying that the present calamity to the city could have been avoided by proper expenditure of city funds and by making drastic cuts in the city personnel.

The motion passed by the city council which reduced civic functions to a skeleton form was made by Councilman David G. Kenney and was adopted unanimously by the council. Councilmen Earl Von Bonhurst and Henry Pate were not present, however.

The plight of the city was made worse by the fact that, exclusive of the outstanding warrants, the city owes principal and interest past due on 1915 bond act assessment bonds, the sum of $48,452.36, and in addition, interest on general bonds, including 1934 water works improvement bonds purchased by the federal government under a PWA project amounting to $1350.

The resolution, which follows, is to be sent to President Roosevelt and other national officials, to the president of the Bank of America and others:

"Whereas, the city of San Clemente is faced with the necessity of reducing drastically its annual operating expense for the following reasons and in the following particulars, to-wit:

"There are outstanding warrants representing money owing by the city on account of street lights maintenance and general governmental and other expenses in a total sum of $22,081.94, and

"There are no funds available to pay such warrants, and the city's warrants and the city's credit has been exhausted; and

"Exclusive of the amounts set forth in paragraph 1 above, the city owes principal and interest past due on 1915 bond act assessment bonds, the sum of $48,452.36, and in addition thereto, interest on general bonds, including 1934 water works improvement bonds purchased by the United States of America under PWA project No. 3203, in the sum of $1350; and

"Whereas, there are owing to said city delinquent taxes and delinquent street light assessments in the total sum of $42,895.32, of which there is owing on account of real property, assessed to Bank of America National Trust & Savings association, approximately the sum of $27,618.95, and in addition on account of 1915 act assessments approximately the sum of $53,622.81 and

"Whereas, the appropriation of the golf course and caddy house, the maintenance of the plaza, pier, beach and beach club, social club, streets and ornamental trees, city offices and street lights, and a paid fire department produces little or no revenue and the money available from such taxes as are paid is required to meet the cost of government functions and,

Whereas, the operation of the golf course and caddy house, the maintenance of the Plaza, pier, beach and beach club, social club, streets and ornamental trees, city of ice and street lights, and a paid fire department produces little or no revenue and the money available from such taxes as are paid is required to meet the cost of essential governmental functions and,

Whereas, by eliminating said activities, and reducing to a minimum the cost of those other activities which are continued, it will be possible to reduce the annual operating cost of said city by approximately $19,470 and by reducing the budget by a like amount keep the expenses of said city within the revenue which is actually received.

Therefore, be it resolved, by the city council of the City of San Clemente, that the following city activities and expenses be eliminated:

All city rentals, operation of golf course, maintenance of the streets, Plaza, Beach club, Social club, beach, pier, ornamental trees, street lights and paid fire department and that the expense of all remaining activities be reduced to a minimum and

Be it further resolved that said action take effect November 1, 1935, and remain in effect until such time as all outstanding debts are paid, and said city has funds to pay the costs of the activities which are hereby eliminated and

Be it further resolved, that copies of this resolution be placed in the hands of all creditors and that the President of the United States, the Hon. Harry Hopkins, public works administrator, our representatives in Congress, the press of the state and the nation and the president of the Bank of America National Trust and Savings association, and other delinquent taxpayers of said city,

GRANT AUXILIARY DOG SHOW LICENSE

The Santa Ana American Legion Auxiliary of Post No. 131 was last night granted a free license to stage an American Kennel Club dog show at the National Guard armory at 415 West Fourth street on November 9 and 10, in conjunction with the Santa Ana Kennel club.

The council was informed that the dog show would attract persons to Santa Ana from throughout the Pacific slope. Proceeds from the show, to be gained by a charge of admission, will go to the auxiliary to defray expenses during the coming year.

Mass Meet Sunday

The addresses by Dr. Townsend and Whitney Sunday will be delivered before what is expected to be the greatest mass meeting ever held by the organization.

A nation-wide broadcast will carry the proceedings to hundreds of other mass meetings throughout the country, called to coincide with the last session here, officials announced.

A caravan of 100 buses were added to the list of special conveniences bringing delegates to Chicago today. The buses, chartered west of Denver, will meet there and drive in a caravan to Chicago.

Special trains have been scheduled from the west coast and Florida.

pose the program if the plan was restricted to building the Prado, San Juan and Trabuco dams and if an 80 per cent federal grant could be obtained.

The opinion was expressed by Kellogg that an 80 per cent grant from the government is impossible, and that these grants are made only in cases where hand labor is used. It would be impractical to use hand labor in the big county flood control program, he said. A motion was passed that a committee be named to contact the Water Users and to attempt to work with them in developing a harmonious program.

A suggestion was made that every effort be made to get a signed statement from government officials to the effect that army engineers would oversee the big project. O. T. Stephens, La Habra, suggested that a statement to that effect from the supervisors should satisfy the voters.

Petitions were on Spurgeon's desk when the meeting was opened. Attempts will be made to obtain from 5000 to 10,000 signatures.

wells after he had been approached by the committee on the subject of surveying between sixty and seventy wells in the district.

Anderson was asked by Senator Olson to identify the various Standard wells which he had surveyed. The engineer expressed the opinion that his surveying activities were his private concern and that the information sought should come from the oil company. On his refusal to give the data demanded, Senator Olson threatened to cite him for contempt.

The engineer was given a respite when the committee allowed him time to telephone the oil company for authority to release the data. Shortly after he had left the room, however, Oscar Lawler, counsel for the Standard Oil company, rose and repeated his assurance of earlier in the hearing that the company would furnish the committee with data on all of its wells in the field.

Olson's declaration of the data was in doubt in view of Senator Olson's declaration at the opening of the hearing that he "would not accept any certificate by a surveyor employed by a company." It was that stand of Senator Olson's which led up to the exchange between him and Senator Stow.

"I don't care who pays for the survey," said Senator Stow. "If the company wants to pay for it, so much the better for us."

Senator Olson declared it might be bad taste for the Standard company to employ Anderson after the committee had declared with the engineer. That brought Lawler in to the argument, when he explained that he understood the committee was having trouble obtaining funds and that in an effort to facilitate matters the company had engaged an engineer approved by the committee to do the work which the committee was planning on having Anderson do.

Lawler declared that none of the Standard's forty-three wells of the district, with the exception of six in the beach strip, penetrate the tidelands. Settlements of royalties for the six have been negotiated, he said.

Sensor Olson declared that the public believes the Standard's wells do trespass. Lawler disputed the declaration and said Senator Olson's imputations and inferences were unjustified.

Settlement Opposed

At the conclusion of the hearing Senator Olson declared he was "dead against" any settlement with the Standard Oil company on the basis used in settlements with numerous independent operators. He declared he would insist on 100 per cent royalty, less than cost of production.

The senator made his statements when Carl B. Sturzenacker of the State Division of Lands asked authority to conclude negotiations with the Standard company under which the state would receive slightly more than $500,000. He said that on the completion of such an agreement, the state would eliminate criticism of independents who are paying regular royalties, would have the right to gauge Standard wells and would obtain solely needed funds.

A committee of three, Emil Huguinin of the State Division of Oil and Gas; Arthur Alexander of the State Lands Division, and Alexander Anderson, was appointed to go over the company data on the wells and report to the senate group.

The committee adjourned, subject to the call of the chair.

SIR SAMUEL HOARE CALLS ON ALL POWERS TO ACT TOGETHER

LONDON, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Great Britain hopes to localize and halt the war between Italy and Ethiopia without applying military sanctions, Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, told a crowded House of Commons today in opening a three-day debate on foreign policy.

Sir Samuel declared Britain does not intend to act alone, and military sanctions are not practicable because there has been no collective agreement at Geneva to apply them generally.

He indicated Britain will rely on economic pressure, which is intended to limit and shorten the war. Sir Samuel spoke in the most solemn and tense atmosphere that the House of Commons has seen in years.

In dismissing the possibility of closing the Suez canal, the foreign secretary said:

"Let us remember that the league is the great instrument of peace. Let critics remember this when they say we ought to close the Suez canal and cut Italian communications."

"Do they mean we should do this alone? If so, what becomes of collective action and our contention that this is not a war between Britain and Italy? It is only dangerous and provocative to talk about it."

Sir Samuel spoke in a quiet, piping tone, both hands spread flat on the edge of the table, like a preacher delivering a sermon. He declared he is doing his utmost to find an eleventh-hour peace formula.

"There is still a breathing space before economic pressure can be applied," he said. "Can it not be used for another attempt at settlement? Italy is still a member of the league."

"Cannot this chance be used so as to make it unnecessary to proceed further along the unattractive road of economic action against a fellow member, an old friend and former ally?"

Denying that the government's policy is hostile to Fascism, Sir Samuel said:

No interference

"We have not the least intention of interfering in the domestic affairs of other people."

"The unbroken solidarity of the empire is behind the government's policy," he said. "Let those prophets of misfortune who have marked the empire down for decay and dissolution observe this fact of overwhelming importance."

Hoare hinted at British isolation from continental affairs if the league collapses.

"Our critics," he said, "fail to recognize that most of us regard even in arranging for the withdrawal of a portion of the British fleet and part of the Italian army in Libya. It has been agreed to do this, but the difficulty of the arrangement is in a formula by which neither country will seem to have backed down.

Italian opinion still is skeptical of general motives despite the Mediterranean agreement, and a though Mussolini is said to be preparing for peace talks, there is much suspicion as to the good will of some others concerned.

A message from a private wireless station in Baracoa reported panic throughout the area. The seas rose rapidly toward the town and water front districts were abandoned.

DEPUTY APPEARS ON BENCH WARRANT

James Regan, deputy sheriff, for whom a bench warrant was issued by Justice Kenneth Morrison yesterday when the officer failed to appear as a witness in a felony case in that court, appeared before the judge today and his case was continued until tomorrow at 9 a. m.

Regan was in Arizona when he was expected in court yesterday morning in the case of William Bollinger, Santa Ana, charged with grand theft of an automobile. It was necessary for the court to continue the case due to the absence of the officer.

Following his appearance today, he was released on his own recognizance until tomorrow.

ORDINANCE ADOPTED FOR POUNDMASTER

A new city ordinance, creating the office of poundmaster and poundkeeper was given first reading last night by the city council.

The present city poundmaster has been working without proper authority, according to a statement made by Lew Blodgett, city attorney, in explaining the need for the new ordinance.

The ordinance sets forth what persons should do in case they are bitten by dogs and the duties of police officers and dog owners at times when animals hurt persons.

It also prohibits the poundmaster to release dogs under any circumstances for vivisection or for experimental purposes, and sets fees that the poundmaster can charge for keeping dogs and live stock of all kinds.

"It is completely satisfactory and the solidarity of our two countries is established. In the event of an isolated attack, inconceivable, though such madness might be, we and they and the rest of the league will stand together and resist with full united force."

Sir Samuel urged the supreme importance of the present test of collective action.

"We must not live in a world of illusions," he said. "If we can depend on collective action, let us know it. If we cannot, then let us know that and let us further know that those who whilst shouting for it in theory, attack and abuse those who wish to apply it in practice."

Peace Proffer

Sir Samuel's speech, especially his reference to Italy as "an old friend and former ally," was regarded as a distinct proffer of the olive branch to Mussolini.

At the same time, however, he vigorously defended economic sanctions and made an open bid for support by all the powers.

Sir Samuel was given an ovation at the end of his speech, which lasted an hour and nine minutes. He was especially well-received when he said:

"I have not believed that anyone in Europe wants war . . . but there already is too much inflammable material lying about Europe. No wise man would wish to throw a spark into it by threats which cannot be carried out collectively, or if carried out, would turn the Ethiopian war into an European war."

Open House To Be Held Tomorrow At Spurgeon School

Teachers and pupils of the Spurgeon school will hold open house to all citizens of Santa Ana tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, according to an announcement made today by W. A. Egger, principal.

Guides will show the people through the beautiful new school building, opened for the first time for this semester and refreshments will be served during the afternoon.

SINCLAIR, FISH RAP NEW DEAL DURING DEBATE

speech Sinclair urged the 3000 persons who attended the debate to gather after the meeting to form EPIC clubs in Illinois. Many did.

Fish partisans blamed the Sinclair organizers with the yelling about Hoover during Fish's address. Fish, commonly identified with the Republican "old guard" leadership, has been mentioned as a G. O. P. presidential nominee in 1936.

Fish cited American Federation of Labor statistics to show that there are 1,000,000 more persons unemployed now than there were in 1932, using this as an argument that the New Deal is a failure.

The New Deal measures are unsound, unworkable and un-American," Fish declared. "They have destroyed business confidence. Sinclair would destroy the American system entirely. What we need is a return to fundamental principles that give this nation the highest standard of wages and living that the world has ever known."

Lecturer at Night School To Talk On War Politics

Dr. William B. Munro, professor of political science at the California Institute of Technology will address the Adult Education class next Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock at the William Junior High school, it was announced today by Mrs. Golden Weston, head of the adult education department of the city schools.

He will talk on "Great Britain and European War Politics" as seen from the British point of view. Professor Munro is considered an authority on the subject and his address here should prove one of the highlights of the series of war talks being given by the class, Mrs. Weston said.

DECORATIONS FOR STREETS ARE ORDERED

season of any Christmas in the history of the city.

In addition to lighting the poles and decorating them, arrangements have been made to have a novel and beautiful float entered in a big parade the evening of December 5, when the Christmas holiday shopping season opens here.

This float will be erected around an automobile, and will be more than 20 feet long. It will take four men to operate the large float, which will have its own generator to supply power for lighting the many multi-colored lights which will adorn the float. The float will show a panorama of a city, with twinkling lights in the buildings. Atop of the snow-laden hills Santa Claus will reign.

Ivie Stein is chairman of the special committee in charge of the decorations. Other members are Walter Swanberger and Phil M. Brown. Bell accompanied the group to Hollywood last night.

RENFRO CONVICTED ON FIGHT CHARGE

Homer H. Renfro, of Los Angeles, arrested following a brawl in the Tavern cafe at Sunset Beach, where two men were stabbed, was convicted last night of a felony charge in connection with one of the stabbings, that of Malcolm Shuppard, of Newport Beach.

A second count, involving the wounding of Carl Stark, of Costa Mesa, resulted in an acquittal. The jury in Judge H. G. Ames' court brought in its verdict at 7:37 p. m., after deliberating slightly more than three hours. The charge against Renfro was assault by means likely to produce great bodily harm. He will be sentenced Friday at 11 a. m.

CUSTOM OFFICIALS DELAY YOUNG FLIER

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Frank Kurtz, youthful aviator whose attempt to set a junior record for a flight from Mexico City to New York almost became snarled in federal tape at Atlanta, left the airport at 7:29 a. m. today.

He arrived here after being released by custom officials at Atlanta, where he was questioned about failing to make formal clearance when he entered the United States on the Texas border.

A WORD OF COMFORT

History reveals no parallel to the nineteen centuries of conviction on the part of believers that they have held communion with the risen, living Saviour and that He has given them power to live triumphantly. It is a reasonable risk for you to assume that trusting Him and seeking His companionship and strength with ultimate lead you into the sunshine, no matter how dark the skies appear, and that you will increasingly know the nearness of your dear ones who have preceded you into Paradise.

Y. W. C. A. PLANS MANY EVENTS DURING WINTER

With a series of three winter candlelight concerts by an outstanding chamber music ensemble as the most ambitious feature, plans for an eventful Y. W. C. A. season have just been released by Miss Mary Howard, executive secretary.

Opportunity to hear Mrs. Frederick Case, president of the national Y. W. C. A. board and sister of Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford University, will be had when she speaks at the San Diego exposition, Sunday, November 3 at 3 p. m. from the organ pavilion, with a tea in her honor to follow in the House of Hospitality. The next day she will speak at a Y. W. C. A. luncheon in Riverside, for which reservations may be made by Santa Anans with Miss Howard until October 30. Tuesday, November 5, the national leader will talk in Los Angeles at the Woman's Athletic club, for which reservations must be in by October 31.

Later in November, Wrycenda Magden, young business women's division, will bring the Padua Hills players to Santa Ana in a benefit performance.

Paper-Bag Luncheons
First of a group of paper-bag luncheons meetings will be held Thursday, October 31 in the Y. W. C. A. clubrooms to discuss the program of the association. Mrs. John Henderson will be the leader. This week, High School Girl Reserves will have a recognition service Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the First Methodist chapel, to be followed by a reception for parents and friends.

Sunday, November 10, from 4 to 5 p. m. there will be a World Fellowship Vesper service, of which Mrs. Edith Thatcher, chairman of committee on public affairs, is in charge.

Concert Series
The concert series to be held on Sunday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock November 17, January 19, and February 16, will be given by the Mills chamber music ensemble, under the direction of John Harlow Mills, composer-pianist and concertmaster at Whittier college. Mills was the winner last year of the Columbia University Bearn prize of $1200 for his Italian sonata for violin. Only 25 years old, he has been a four year scholarship student at Curtis Institute in Philadelphia, and has studied composition in Italy for several years. First violinist for the group is Miss Elizabeth Mogridge, California winner of the National Federation of Music spring contest.

Offered as a contribution to community musical life, the concerts will be made possible by a patroness and subscription plan, Miss Howard said, as a project under the educational committee headed by Mrs. Dixon Guthrie. Mrs. Clarence Gustlin and Mrs. H. J. Howard, associated promotion chairmen, were to meet today to discuss details of concert arrangements.

Issue Warrant As Defendant Fails To Face Court

A bench warrant was issued today by Justice Kenneth Morrison for Thomas Martin, Los Angeles man scheduled to go on trial in the justice court for shoplifting and his bond of $500 was demanded forfeited when he failed to appear for trial.

Doris Giachino, co-defendant in the case was present but her case was continued until November 6, due to the absence of Martin. Both were arrested here on August 15 when they are asserted to have robbed the Famous Department store here and were caught on the street by several employees of the store. Loot, concealed under the dress of the woman was recovered according to the police.

A letter was received from the attorney in the case who was expected in court today to defend Martin and Mrs. Giachino, saying that he could not be present due to the fact he was in the superior court in a case in Los Angeles.

COUNCIL ASKED BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO FINANCE ENTRY IN ARMISTICE PARADE

In a letter from the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce to the Santa Ana City council, received last night, it was suggested that the city finance an entry in the Armistice Day parade at Anaheim, sponsored by the American Legion.

The letter from the council stated that the chamber of commerce did not have money to aid in the enterprise but that it would be willing to aid the city in plans for the float. It had named a committee composed of Rex Kennedy, Herbert Miller and W. S. Baker to act with the council on the plans.

The council took no action on the matter other than appointing a committee composed of Councilmen Ernest Layton, William Penn and Joe P. Smith, to investigate and determine if there is any money available in the city for such an expenditure.

Refer to Election
Layton favored the plan, but Councilman Plummer Bruns stated that the people of the city had voted down an advertising fund and a music fund and that there were no funds available. Layton declared that he did not believe the voters meant to eliminate enterprises of this type when they voted out the two funds.

In connection with the Armistice Day parade, Leland Auer, director of the Santa Ana Municipal band appeared before the council last night with a written request for $250, to be taken from the general fund, to finance the band of 50 pieces in the Armistice Day parade.

He explained that it would give employment to 50 men for one day.

The request was also referred to the committee with no definite action taken.

The parade this year will have for its motif "Patriotism," it was explained.

State Employees Hear Address By Group Executive

Harry T. Royer, executive manager of the California State Employees association, was the speaker at a meeting of the Orange County chapter held at the Orange County clubhouse last night. Royer spoke on a number of phases of public service urging members of the association as public servants, to give the best possible service to the people of the state.

Plans were made for election of officers of the chapter to be held November 18 at the same place. Herbert Walker of Los Angeles, chairman of the law committee of the association, made a brief talk and Dr. John Worley, president of the Norwalk chapter, also spoke briefly.

Joe Scherman, president, was in charge of the meeting and refreshments were served.

Mexican Treated For Cuts Received In Group Fight

Inquest into the death of P. E. Sanchez, 22, sailor of San Diego, killed Saturday afternoon when the car he was driving overturned near San Juan Capistrano, will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow at the Divel Funeral parlors at San Clemente.

Sanchez with four other sailors were on their way to Los Angeles from San Diego at the time of the accident. His car overturned on a curve two miles north of the town, crushing his head and breaking his neck.

AUTO EDITOR DISCLOSES '36 MOTOR CAR STYLE NEWS

Lillian M. Beckett (Noted Boston Fashion Authority): "In your opinion, Mr. Fitzpatrick, what is the fall style trend in motor cars? Any definite yet?"

Joseph L. Fitzpatrick (Automobile Editor, Boston Post): "Well, now take the 1936 Dodge, as automobile editor for 8 years I have had to study each year's new Dodge models and of course any automobile editor knows that Dodge has had a reputation for ruggedness and dependability—and the 1936 model certainly scored on economy. But I hand it to this 1936 job . . . as the smartest, most fashionable and most strikingly beautiful car Dodge ever made."

TESTIMONY IN ESTATE BATTLE STARTS TODAY

As a preliminary skirmish in the battle of a repudiated wife and daughter to break the will of H. Edgar Johnson, late Fullerton publisher, Mrs. Jessie Elvira Johnson, of Beverly Hills, appeared in superior court today to demand a family allowance of $300 per month, pending settlement of the $100,000 estate.

Her petition was vigorously opposed by legates under the will, which cut off Mrs. Johnson, and would only $5000 to her daughter, Beverly, 15, whose parentage was questioned by the publisher in his will, now on file for probate.

The Johnson will even questions the right of the petitioner to call herself Johnson, inasmuch as it refers to her as Mrs. Jessie Engstrom, and to the girl as Beverly Engstrom.

The marriage of Johnson and Mrs. Engstrom Johnson, which took place in Ventura county, November 12, 1932, also was brought into question as a legal ceremony, not only in the will, but again in court today as the woman's counsel, Isadore Dockweiler, of Los Angeles, sought to have the marriage certificate admitted into evidence.

Attorney M. B. Wellington, representing Special Administrator H. C. Head, of the Johnson estate, objected on the ground that the marriage was a "nullity." Wellington contended that the Mexican divorce obtained by the woman from her first husband, Engstrom, was not legal, therefore her marriage to Johnson was not legal.

The girl, Beverly, was born, March 31, 1920, 12 years before her mother married Johnson. In his will, Johnson stated that he had signed a paper admitting she was his daughter, but that it had been signed under threat and duress, and he denied parentage.

Mrs. Johnson, testifying in court today, said that she and Johnson and the girl had moved from Los Angeles into her present home at 722 North Roxbury Drive, Beverly Hills, in September, 1932, shortly before their Ventura marriage, and lived there afterward until his death.

She declared that he had treated the girl like a daughter, had supported her "very well," and had given her a $1000 automobile as a birthday gift.

Opposing the family allowance today was Administrator Head and various heirs, including two brothers of the deceased, Marvin and Charles Johnson, each willed $15,000; Mrs. O. E. Evans, of Fullerton willed $250; Grace Johnson, of Santa Ana, willed $150; Mrs. Cornelia Whitney, sister-in-law, of San Francisco, willed $10,000; and Laura A. Coerper, of Los Angeles, also willed $10,000. These legates were represented by Attorney Wellington.

In addition, Virginia Remington, Los Angeles woman who was willed $10,000, was represented by Attorney R. C. Mize.

Judge F. A. Leonard, of San Bernardino, is hearing the petition, having exchanged courts with Judge H. G. Ames.

INCREASED VALUATION BOOSTS SANTA ANA'S SHARE OF COST ON METROPOLITAN WATER JOB

That Santa Ana's share of the cost for the Metropolitan Water district will be greater than anticipated because the assessed valuations here are higher in 1935-36 than in 1934-35 was announced in a letter to the city council last night by Col. S. H. Finley, director for the district, who told the council that the purpose of the communication was to keep the city informed of the "news" in the district.

In 1934, he declared Santa Ana represented about 1 per cent of the valuation of the Metropolitan Water district, and in 1935 this has grown to 11 1/3 per cent. "This results in our proportion of the $250,000,000 bond issue being $2,563,000 which will decrease as the district is enlarged," he wrote.

"In compensation for the increase Santa Ana will be entitled to a corresponding increase of water of 20.3 second feet which equals 14,634 acre feet per annum delivered at the city limits when needed."

During the past year the district employed 6000 men, Col. Finley stated and within a few months the maximum employment will be reached with 12,000 men.

During the past month Santa Ana had 117 men on the payroll who received $12,756 in salaries and wages. The total amount paid to Santa Ana men employed to date is $246,305.04, he reported.

17,000 CITRUS WORKERS
California citrus growers employ between 16,000 and 17,000 persons in picking and packing alone, according to a survey of markets expansion department, Mutual Orange distributors. Total wage approximately $6,500,000. During peak season each year the number of persons employed increases materially.

The Colorado man, who has lived in that state for the past 30 years, formerly was one of the pioneer residents and business men of Santa Ana. He operated a milling business here, with their distributing plant at the place where the Santa Fe freight house is located now. He recalled that considerable quantities of wheat were raised in the county in those days and that in one year his mill sold 160 carloads of flour in Los Angeles alone.

Mr. Yost, who also visited here two years ago at the time of the earthquake, will leave Thursday or Friday for Denver.

FORGERY SUSPECT IN JAIL

Clifford Nunnally, 19, Santa Ana youth, wanted here on a charge of forgery was returned to the Santa Ana jail last night by deputy sheriffs from Florence, Ariz., where he was arrested.

He is asserted to have passed a number of worthless checks in and near Santa Ana. The arrest was made on a complaint from Vandermaast, Inc., of Santa Ana.

Officers arrived with him late last night and he has not been arraigned.

QUARTET HOLDS UP SERVICE STATION MAN

Two Koreans and two Filipinos, riding in a small car, stopped at the Valencia Service station, 101 highway and Central avenue, La Habra at 9 o'clock last night, held up the proprietor with a pistol and looted the cash register of $19 in cash.

R. E. Boice, the proprietor, told officers that the car drove in from the east and one of the men got out and came into the station asking the road to Riverside. Several maps were procured for him and while the men were studying the maps one of the men, a Filipino, shoved a pistol against Boice and ordered him to open the cash register.

The other three men remained in the automobile. After the money was taken from the register, Boice was ordered back of the service station and told to stay there for awhile until the getaway could be effected.

Good descriptions of the bandits were furnished the police and part of the license number of the machine was obtained, it was reported.

— News Behind The News —

BY PAUL MALLON
(Copyright, 1935, by Paul Mallon)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—A hint has come from some of the public utility holding company people indicating that they might whip up a big national political fight against abolition of the government.

This word has seeped through to the securities and exchange commission, where some uneasiness has been noticeable beneath the surface. New Chairman Landis is supposed to have made several private talks to large groups recently deploring the possibility. His position is that the government does not mind a fair test of the constitutionality of the act in the courts. In fact, the commission is willing to co-operate with the holding companies to hasten a test suit (not one like the trick Baltimore case, however). All it wants is reasonable co-operation from the holding companies in the preliminary to registration. Most of the companies have already shown a willingness to go along carefully that way, but a few of the urchins are supposed to have their fingers crossed. They will soon get them uncrossed, for the same reason that an unarmed man usually does not challenge one with a stick.

BLACK-JACK

While Landis and his commissioners are speaking softly, there are certain New Dealers outside the commission who are carrying heavy clubs. One is Senator Black, chairman of the Senate's propaganda investigating committee. If the holding companies open up a broad publicity attack, it will not be necessary for anyone to stick a pin into Senator Black to get him started. Under his latest amplified powers he can go into the books of any corporation, haul any corporation official to his investigational bar. You may rest assured such preparations as are necessary have been made.

For that reason, the odds are about 10 to 1 that the legitimate constitutional challenge of the holding companies act will be conducted far more peacefully than most people now believe probable.

RUSSIA

It did not get out at the time, but the question of breaking off diplomatic relations with Russia was under serious consideration at the state department not long ago. Nearly all the U. S. board of diplomatic strategy have become disillusioned, if not disgusted. Their hopes for substantial expansion of trade, settlement of the debts, non-propaganda understandings have proved a delusion.

Yet recognition was not cancelled. The reason now being put forward off-the-record by officials is that such a step would accomplish nothing, that it is better for an unsatisfactory status quo to continue.

It will be denied, but every insider there knows this explanation is a truthful excuse to cover a much better political reason. The strategists really felt that retraction of recognition would be a blanket confession of error. The indications are that they may continue to hold that view until after the next election.

COLOR

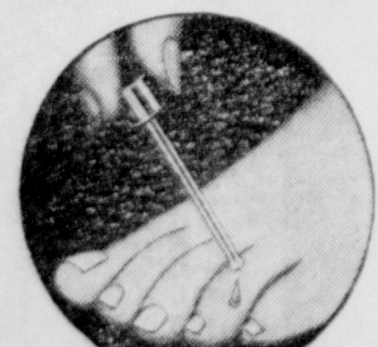

Before recognition, the state department expected a $550,000,000 annual American export trade out of the deal. That was the official inside figure. All it actually got was a promise to purchase $30,000,000. This represents only $15,000,000 more than exports before recognition.

But what hurt worse was the misunderstanding on debts. In the recognition discussions, President Roosevelt promised trade credits for settlement of the $700,000,000 American debt and damage claims. This government offered to reduce the claims to about $200,000,000 and extend $100,000,000 of credits. But after recognition, Litvinoff demanded $100,000,000 in cash and another $100,000,000 in credits.

Our diplomats considered Litvinoff's attitude a deliberate misinterpretation of the president's offer. Their faces have been the same color as the soviet flag ever since.

ceeds his pet TVA. The story will break soon.

Mr. Roosevelt has quietly carried out the idea in Nebraska. He fathered and financed four public power systems as separate and spontaneous developments. But now it appears that they will form a "grid" system which may force private utilities to come into the compact. Thus the state of George Norris, father of Muscle Shoals and TVA, may serve as a "guinea pig" for public development of power.

CONTROL

New York sharpshins learn that high Washington circles are divided on the question of what should be done about inflation. Several of Mr. Roosevelt's key advisers are said to be as concerned as Jim Landis and Charles R. Gay about the prospects before a runaway boom. They feel that gold imports and the huge total of excess reserves belonging to Federal member banks have created a credit base more than broad enough to take care of all legitimate credit expansion. They favor suspension of all Federal Reserve activities which tend to increase banking reserves and they also want to make definite plans now for checking any speculative outbursts that might develop.

On the other hand, Federal Reserve Governor Marriner Eccles is disposed to foster inflationary tendencies at present—with the idea of hastening the recovery pace—on the premise that there will be plenty of time to clamp down before the situation gets dangerous. Mr. Roosevelt will probably be asked to settle this argument soon after he returns to the capital.

New Deal banking legislation has given the Federal Reserve Board a new method of controlling inflation in addition to the familiar devices of raising the re-discount rate and selling government securities in the open market. It is now possible to jack up the deposit reserve requirements of Federal Reserve member banks any time the Board sees fit. This is a quick and effective method of slashing excess reserves—and experts agree it might work much better than wholesale dumping of federal securities.

UP

The war scare has brought startling reductions in world stocks of raw materials since the beginning of 1935.

The world stock of cotton was 10,532,000 bales in January, 1935. By January of this year it had dropped to 7,815,000. The latest figure available (for August) was steeply down to 4,278,000. Wheat stocks amounted to 593,000,000 bushels in January '35 and 509,000,000 in January 1935—a comparatively minor difference. But the August figure this year nose-dived to 340,000,000.

The same phenomenon is apparent in sugar. The world supply was 8,865,000 tons in January two years ago, 7,887,000 this January and 5,487,000 this August. Petroleum stocks on the corresponding dates were 509,000,000 barrels, 484,000,000 and 480,000,000 respectively. No recent figures are available for copper but the supply declined from 511,000 tons in January '35 to 375,000 at the beginning of this year.

The trend indicated in all these items definitely points to a higher world commodity price level. Prices are in fact already ballooning in every major nation except France—and France is undergoing forced deflation.

INFLATION

Administration strategists have been lying awake nights to devise an answer to this problem. They have not found it easy to attack increased living costs in the face of numerous proclamations and programs which have as their objective a higher return to producers. But now the insiders think they have a perfect out.

Investigations already under way are designed to throw most of the responsibility on processors and middle men. Meantime Lucian Koch has been chosen to organize an aggressive campaign against increased costs. Mr. Koch, one-time director of a labor college in Arkansas, will work with laboring people and housewives. He will "educate" them. He will shift the fight against the h. c. of l. from women's clubs to factories and homes. He will make it vocal and aggressive.

White Housers are secretly worried over these questions. They fear that inflation will make the workers' costs all out of line with his earnings, no matter how much business improves within the next year.

GRIDS

If anybody thinks the administration intends to let its great power projects—Passamaquoddy, Grand Coulee, Bonneville, the Parker Dam, etc., become political targets as "white elephants" they are just fooling themselves. The power experts are quietly framing definite and detailed programs for use of their hydro-electric production.

Nobody will discuss it publicly but President Roosevelt has already suggested a system for tying up the power units in the Far West. Under it he would link Grand Coulee, Bonneville, Boulder Dam and Hetch Hetchy with public power plants in Seattle, Portland, Tacoma, Los Angeles and one which will eventually be built in San Francisco. There will be public manufacture and distribution, and gradual absorption of private systems. It is a program which ex-

1933 FIGURE EXCEEDED BY WIDE MARGIN

ALL PREVIOUS September records of car lot shipments and sales of California Valencia oranges were broken during the past month, it was learned today from the California Fruit Growers Exchange. Average returns were the best of the season to date.

Although the orange market declined during September, the final result for the month was good from the standpoint of both average prices and volume, the report said.

Throughout the month, shipments continued at a record-breaking rate, and the final count of car lot shipments indicated a movement of 5895 cars, which does not include a considerable volume of loose fruit sold mainly for California consumption. This is an increase of 16 per cent over the previous maximum September movement of 5063 cars in 1933.

The September market opened at the highest prices of the season and held quite firm during the first two weeks. Volume of sales, however, ran lighter than August.

The industry distribution committee, functioning under the citrus marketing agreement, the report said, was confronted with the problem of setting weekly shipping prorates high enough to move the remaining crop during the period that the fruit could be kept in satisfactory condition, but still not setting the prorates so high as to cause an unsatisfactory market.

With a record volume of fruit requirements of Federal Reserve member banks any time the Board sees fit. This is a quick and effective method of slashing excess reserves—and experts agree it might work much better than wholesale dumping of federal securities.

Advices from Florida, it was reported, indicate a lighter orange crop than last year. Shipments from that state are not expected to affect the market for Valencia until the latter part of October or early November.

FUNDS TRANSFERRED FOR WPA PROJECTS

Approval of transfer of funds belonging to Orange and Santa Ana cities, from SERRA to WPA, for expenditure upon work projects, was granted by the county supervisors today in a resolution.

The transfer includes $4414.70 for the Santiago parkway project; $3912.25 for the Santiago creek channel project; $1023.16 for the Orange city park project, and $16,092 for the Orange Swimming pool project.

The supervisors today postponed to November 5, action upon bids for the contract to supply the county with its road gravel.

The automobile radio given away by B. J. MacMullen, Chevrolet dealer, when about 400 persons attended the free motion picture show at the Chevrolet garage last night, was awarded to Don Beckstrand, 1058½ West Third street, Santa Ana. Robert N. Hockaday, local business man, presided over the presentation.

A series of interesting films, illustrating mechanical construction of the Chevrolet car, and the extraordinary safety features of knee-action and turret tops, were shown on the program.

Ray Gilbert Not Guilty; Continue Hotel Bill Case

In a story printed in The Register yesterday, it was reported that Ray Gilbert, Tustin truck driver, was found guilty of defrauding an inn keeper. The Register desired to correct the statement, unsolicited on the part of Gilbert.

He was charged with defrauding Mrs. Johanna Spencer, 113 Halliday street, where he was rooming, but was not found guilty. The case was continued pending settlement of the claim, after an agreement between the two was reached.

JUDGE SCOTT GETS L. A. JUVENILE POST

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Judge Robert H. Scott today held a temporary appointment to the juvenile court bench, a post for which Judge Ben B. Lindsey, former Denver jurist, entered a strong bid last week.

Scott was appointed by Presiding Superior Judge Edward T. Bishop following what was described as a turbulent meeting of superior court judges last night. Although no report was made, it was said that the 40 jurists staged a hot debate over Lindsey's candidacy. Presiding Judge Bishop decided to seat Scott, pending the return of the retiring incumbent, Samuel R. Blake, from a vacation trip.

In entering a bid for the appointment last week, Lindsey declared his 20-year record of service with Denver juveniles made him a fitting candidate for the post.

AVIATRIX NICHOLS STILL HOLDING OWN

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Aviatrix Ruth Nichols held ground today against critical injuries suffered in the crash of a 20-passenger airplane. Four of the plane's crew were honeymooning despite painful burns.

Miss Nichols' pilot, Harry Hublitz, died last night of burns and shock, a few hours after the two stewardesses of his ship married his two mechanics. Miss Nichols, "resting comfortably," but in critical condition with fractures of a wrist and an ankle, a broken nose and serious burns, was not told of his death.

Raymond Hanes, Xenia, O., married Gladys Berkenheiser, New York, and William Holt, Atlanta, married the new Mrs. Hanes' sister, Nena.

A joint federal-state investigation of the crash was started today. Jack Sommers, representing the U. S. department of commerce, and Capt. Albert Moore, chief inspector of the state police, were in charge.

The transfer includes $4414.70 for the Santiago parkway project; $3912.25 for the Santiago creek channel project; $1023.16 for the Orange city park project, and $16,092 for the Orange Swimming pool project.

Court Notes

Mrs. Mary Ann Chambers, of Anaheim, today filed suit in superior court for a divorce from John Long Chambers, on grounds of alleged desertion. The complaint stated that they were married in Globe, Ariz., April 6, 1907, and separated September 15, 1930.

Foreclosure of street improvement bonds aggregating $5123.36 against 12 parcels of property at Dana Point, was asked today in a superior court action brought by E. Perry Churchill against the Title Insurance and Trust company and various "John Doe" defendants. The action is similar to several other foreclosure suits recently filed by Churchill on Dana Point lots.

Charging cruelty, Ed Richardson of Anaheim, has brought divorce proceedings in superior court against Elizabeth Richardson, whom he married in Arkansas in June, 1913. They separated August 13, 1935.

HELENA SUFFERING FROM SNOW, COLD

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Biting winds and snow flurries today accentuated the need for relief measures in caring for more than 400 refugees from homes wrecked by a series of earthquakes.

The refugees were being fed and sheltered at a transient camp. Construction crews were working on a rush basis to provide other shelter, while other laborers were razing structures made unsafe by the shocks.

Light earth rumblings, climaxed by a moderately severe shock shortly before midnight, kept citizens on the alert. None of the more than 300 distinct shocks has approached in intensity the major tremor of last Friday night.

A few business establishments opened yesterday on a restricted basis, but motorists were turned away from the downtown district. All schools remained closed while the board of education considered measures to provide temporary quarters.

GUILD DISBANDED

FULLERTON, Oct. 22.—Fullerton Presbyterian church Woman's guild disbanded Monday night, members voting to give their support to other church organizations such as the forum group.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Mabel Stevenson, 816 East Walnut avenue, with Mrs. Villa Heck and Miss Florence Durkee as assisting hostesses. The evening was spent at games. Mrs. A. E. Clark and Mrs. Marjorie Waterman are retiring president and vice president.

Federals Probe Counterfeiting Of Golf Ducats

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Secret service agents were called in today to investigate evidence of counterfeiting of tickets to the National Professional Golfers association tournament at Twin Hills Country club.

There is a federal tax on the admission fees. Several agents from the revenue bureau here were to start an inquiry.

There was a gallery estimated at between 3000 and 4000 at the quarter-final matches of the tournament yesterday. Yet a check of records showed less than 1000 tickets had been sold through the proper channels, including season tickets.

LANGFORD CRAWFORD CALLED BY DEATH

Word of the death of Langford W. Crawford, 86, former Orange county rancher, in a Los Angeles hospital was received in Santa Ana today.

Crawford, who had been a resident in and near Santa Ana for the last 45 years, died following an illness of two weeks.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Viva Dunkin of Orange, Mrs. B. F. Hughes of Montebello and Mrs. Vera Solberg of Upland, and one son, Walter L. Crawford of Long Beach.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Moritz funeral home in Montebello. Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

FORMER MARINE IS HELD IN SLAYING

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Paul D. Petro, 33, former marine charged with the murder and robbery of Mrs. Catherine Geer, 57, El Cajon hog rancher, will face a preliminary hearing tomorrow.

Petro, formerly of Watertown, Wis., was arrested by Miami, Ariz., police Sept. 23, ten days after the crime. In a confession made to Undersheriff George Bjerket, San Diego, before he was returned, he admitted participation in the robbery, but placed blame for Mrs. Geer's death on his alleged Negro companion, James J. White, 24.

California and Arizona police still are on the lookout for White, but no trace of him has been reported since the pair abandoned the truck in which they left the ranch at Huntington Park, Cal.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS ASKS U. S. ATTITUDE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(UP)—The League of Nations communication citing peace measures undertaken by the league, including declaration of a financial and economic boycott against Italy, and a request for this government's views was received by the state department today.

Officials indicated this government probably would not reply immediately. It was believed a thorough study will be made of the league message and that state department officials will confer with President Roosevelt before replying.

The text of the league's communication was not made public here but it was understood to be a statement of actions taken by the league to enforce peace, coupled with a request for an expression of opinion by this government.

JOCKEY IS SOUGHT IN WOMAN'S DEATH

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Willie (Smoky) Saunders, jockey who won the last Kentucky derby, today was reported returning to Louisville for questioning in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Evelyn Silivinski, 24, wife of a Louisville tailor.

Police were not informed definitely of Saunders' whereabouts but said they had learned from his employer, Hal Price Headley, Lexington, Ky., that he would report in Louisville tomorrow. Saunders checked out of a Baltimore hotel last night without announcing his destination.

Mrs. Agatha Machison, 26, supplied the information that led to the search for Saunders. She identified a photograph of him as one of "two jockeys" who took her and Mrs. Silivinski to a roadhouse Saturday night.

PHILCO DEALERS PLAN SALES WORK

Orange county Philco radio dealers met last night at a dinner meeting in the Green Cat cafe to hear factory representatives outline plans for the sales campaign this year.

The Turner Radio company of Santa Ana and dealers from Garden Grove, Laguna Beach, Costa Mesa, Anaheim, Fullerton, Orange, attended the meeting.

Speakers on the program included Harold Dishon, Philco factory representative; R. B. Smith, district manager for Listenwater and Gough, Southern California Philco distributors, and Hugh Latimer, distributor's salesman.

The speakers outlined Philco's sales plans for the coming year: The outline of production methods and engineering improvements which they said will no doubt keep Philco in the lead as the largest radio manufacturer in the United States. The company, it was said, manufactured 30 per cent of all home radios sold in the nation in 1934.

JEWELRY FIRM TO IMPROVE QUARTERS

An extensive improvement program which will include modernization of the entire store front has been undertaken by the Asher Jewelry company, 210 West Fourth street, it was announced today.

Besides modernizing the entire front of the store, which will be black and silver, the improvements to be made include installation of indirect interior lighting, new window fixtures and redecorating the interior.

All local persons will be employed on the improvement work, it was announced. The contractor is Vic Anderson and the architect is Fay R. Spangler. Work is to be started immediately.

The Asher Jewelry company has been in the same location for 15 years.

COUNCIL NOTES

Councilmen William Penn and Ernest Layton were appointed as a committee to investigate the proposed purchase of the Boy Scout cabin in Jack Fisher park, after the forestry board in a written communication to the council, suggested that the cabin be purchased by the city. J. L. McBride, city engineer, reported the lease on the cabin had expired.

Intimating that the stand in Birch park would be moved to a new location, the council voted that it be left until the forestry board passed on the new location. Efforts have been made to remove the stand from the park by the forestry board, which in a letter to the council last night again suggested such a move on the grounds that the stand is unsightly; that there was nothing in the gift deed to the city allowing a stand; that the building did not conform with the provisions of the fire ordinance for Zone No. 1 and that it was in violation of the sanitary laws of the city.

G. L. Wilson, 20, of 815 South Ross street, asked permission of the council to drive a taxicab. The application was referred to the taxicab committee which will report back at the next regular meeting.

Application of Menmo Lay, 1732 West Fifth street, for permission to open an automobile wrecking yard at that address, was acted on by the council last night when the property was ordered posted and a hearing set for the next regular meeting night.

Application of Vernon D. Cox, 1140 West Walnut street, for permission to conduct an office for the selling of automobile accessories from his home, was denied by the council.

An offer to install a public address system in the city bowl at a cost of $325, was referred by the council to the city auditor for investigation.

Councilmen William Penn and Ernest Layton announced they would attend the annual meeting of the Orange County League of Municipalities, to be held at San Clemente on Thursday night.

A letter received by the council calling attention to the ditch which has been dug on one side of new highway between Grand avenue and South Glassell street, which, according to the writer, Fred Schroeder, 2227 Lincoln avenue, is dangerous. He suggested that a concrete pipe be placed in the ditch to carry away the water and then have the ditch covered. The matter was referred to the city engineer after councilmen declared they were of the opinion that the ditch was outside the city limits.

Application of M. R. Jemison, of 441 East Palm street, Orange, for permission to open a bowling alley either in the basement of the Pacific building at Third street and Broadway or at 509 West Fourth street, was referred to the chief of police and the police commissioner.

Application of Harry A. Dixon for a merchant police commission was referred to the chief of police and the police commissioner.

Application of Raphael Espinosa, pastor of the Free Methodist Mexican church here, to conduct street meetings at Fourth and French streets on Saturday nights, was denied.

Councilman E. L. Layton asked further time in which to make a report on a communication received two weeks ago, regarding street conditions in Delhi. The complaint was received in the form of a petition stating that in rainy weather, persons in that section of the city were virtually marooned.

A complaint received two weeks ago from the Orange County Title company, relative to the lack of drainage on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth street on the east side, was taken up again last night with the report by J. L. McBride that the trouble had been temporarily removed by the filling of several holes in the street.

Due to the fact that Joseph P. Smith was not present at the council meeting last night, the proposed contract of the Southern California Edison company with the city regarding overhead lights on streets, was held up for another week. The Edison company proposed to make a 40 per cent discount on all electricity used in these lights above the amount used last year.

A new city ordinance governing the use of city parks was given first reading by the council. An ordinance was proposed at the last regular meeting, but this was withdrawn and another substituted. There is little difference in the two ordinances except that the forestry board is given more control of the parks in the more recent ordinance. Final reading is scheduled for the next regular meeting of the board.

BOWERS TO STROKE CALIFORNIA CREW; DOTS AND DASHES

Completely forgotten during the football hysteria, University of California's famed crew has been preparing unobtrusively for Olympic year.

The Golden Bears won at Poughkeepsie, at the Olympic trials, at the Olympic Games in 1928. They repeated this procedure in '32. Can they do it again? Well, out of Berkeley comes a red hot tip.

The man who'll pace California's "Grand Slam" shell next year probably will be a Santa Ana—large, muscular Addison Bowers.

Coach Ky Ebright has shifted Bowers to stroke on his first boat, will watch the ex-Saint football player carefully during the remaining two weeks of rowing practice this year. Bowers pulled No. 4 last year. The stroke of a crew is the man who pulls the oar nearest the stern. He sets the "stroke" for the whole crew. Traditionally, he is the strongest, best, most courageous man in the boat.

Said Coach Ebright for publication: "Bowers' work was very promising."

Santa Ana had at least one representative at the world series. He was Bernard Parker, vice-president of the Orange County Title company, who is back in Santa Ana from a vacation trip that took him and Mrs. Parker as far east as New York. Parker saw the second game in Detroit and the last two when the Tigers clinched the series. He also saw University of Michigan's first two football games with Michigan State and Indiana.... Now we know why Pitt lost to Notre Dame. Coach Jock Sutherland has a story in this week's Saturday Evening Post. The Post Course adds Sutherland to a long and imposing list: Thomas, Jones, Kipke, Little and Kerr.

When they begin to tell us how football should be played the Old Post Course gets 'em.

Ben Warner has a $10 bet against the Trojans every time they start this term, and says he'll sell his bet for $80. . . . Headline in a Long Beach newspaper: "Jones Vindicated by Troy's Courageous Comeback, Says Paddock." Is Charley running backward? . . .

Like most mothers of great players, Mrs. Phil Lutz of Santa Ana is no football fan. They tell me she had a good cry when the radio announcer at the Santa Clara-Cal. game stated that her Larry had been injured. Have no fear, Mrs. Lutz, your Larry can take care of himself. Better you worry about the safety of the lads on opposing teams!

Said the San Francisco Chronicle: "Big Lutz had taken a bash on the nose early in the third quarter and between blood-sporting bellows he was daring the Broncos to come into his side of the line. They took the dare en masse and for a while the wounded Lutz was given a bad time of it. But he stayed in there and fought with great courage and finally gained a high degree of personal credit for California's victory." . . .

More about Little Larry and his All-American possibilities tomorrow. . . .

"Tex" Harris, the bulky Santa Ana who had an inside track to the right end spot at U. C. L. A. before the season started, but later was declared ineligible, is back in good favor with the faculty and is out to regain his berth from Bob Schroeder. . . . Jack Fredericks, another ex-Santa Ana, has been greatly handicapped by a knee injury. First it was his right one, now his left. Jack was crowding all the Bruin guards when he was clipped from behind during a scrimmage at Caltech. . . .

Harry Kipke of Michigan wrote football articles for a national picket mag, telling just how his teams tricked less able opposition. . . .

Lou Little of Columbia has published a book, How to Watch Football, and on the cover, of course is a diagram of the play which his team used to fool a certain player and win in the Rose Bowl. . . .

Frank Thomas of Alabama wrote (or approved what a ghost wrote) how he discovered that Hamilton, a Stanford halfback played too deep on defense, and how he devised a pass to make a sucker out of Hamilton.

These coaches were paid good dough to dish out this stuff.

Whatever else his critics claim, none can say that Howard Jones ever allowed his name to be run at the head of an article telling how he, the great coach, had outwitted some kid in his 'teens or early twenties. . . . Floyd Blower has averaged 32 yards (from line of scrimmage) on his kicks for Cal. this season.

Joe Louis To Fight Paulino Uzudun

PLACE, EXACT DATE WILL BE SET TOMORROW

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Paulino Uzudun, veteran Spanish heavyweight, was matched today for a 15-round bout with Joe Louis, sensational Detroit Negro boxer. Promoter Mike Jacobs announced.

The bout will be staged early in December either at Madison Square Garden or the Bronx Coliseum. The site and date will be determined definitely within the next 24 hours.

It was understood Paulino has the gate, Louis will work on a percentage basis. Louis will work on a percentage basis, receiving a larger cut than the Basque woodchopper. Paulino, now at his home in San Sebastian, Spain, notified Jacobs by cable he had agreed to terms and signed contracts. He will start training immediately and call for New York next month.

Paulino Uzudun, the Bounding Basque woodchopper from San Sebastian, Spain, has bounded back into the heavyweight fight picture again. The 36-year-old ring veteran, above, is going to be the next opponent of Joe Louis, Detroit's Brown Bomber, according to Mike Jacobs, New York promoter, who estimates a fight between the two would draw $150,000.

Santa Anans Gain Ground In Golf Race

Matches with Hacienda, Mountain Meadows and Virginia, all coming in the next three weeks, will tell whether Santa Ana Country club's women's golf team regains the Eastern division championship which it relinquished last year to Mountain Meadows.

The Santa Anans picked up a lot of lost ground yesterday by defeating Virginia 8-4 at Long Beach, a real achievement on a strange course.

Team standings to date: Virginia, 24 points; Santa Ana, 18 1/2; Mountain Meadows, 17, and Hacienda, 12 1/2.

Santa Ana plays two of its remaining matches at home. So do Hacienda and Mountain Meadows. Virginia is on the road for all three. Monday's summary: Mrs. J. L. McPadden and Mrs. L. H. Robinson (Santa Ana) 6 points; Mrs. Ray Williams and Miss M. Lovell (Virginia) 3 points; Mrs. Harry Baker and Mrs. H. A. Harwood (Santa Ana) 5 points; Mrs. F. G. Wilson and Mrs. E. A. Wallace (Virginia) 6; Mrs. C. V. Doty and Mrs. L. J. Bushard (Santa Ana) 2 1/2 points; Mrs. M. S. Shambaugh and Mrs. Cary Wesson (Virginia) 3 1/2; Mrs. O. Man and Mrs. Dan Andrews (Santa Ana) 2 1/2 points; Mrs. H. A. Graham and Mrs. O. A. Gustafson (Virginia) 2 1/2.

HUNTER TO LA CUMBRE

When Roy Renwick joined the Santa Ana Country club as golf professional it developed that he was going to swap jobs with Joe Hunter, who resigned here in June. Announcement was made today that Hunter has signed with La Cumbre club at Santa Barbara. Renwick was identified with La Cumbre before coming to Santa Ana.

WILLOWICK WINNER

Opening its season in the Women's Public Links association, the Willowick Golf club defeated Huntington Beach, 8 1/2 points to 3 1/2, at Willowick yesterday. Summary: Mrs. J. K. McDonald and Mrs. G. B. Chapman (Willowick) 4 points; Mrs. Pearl Adams and Mrs. H. A. Woodington (Willowick) 3 points; Mrs. Robins and Mrs. K. Ketter (HB) 3 points.

Mr. Sidney Harris and Mrs. R. W. Townsend (W) defeated Mrs. John Africa and Mrs. P. Curran (HB) 2 1/2 to 1 points.

Mrs. Lady Schaffer and Mrs. E. E. Russell (W) defeated Mrs. A. M. Anderson and Mrs. J. K. Sargent (HB) 3 to 1 points.

'ATHLETIC FASCISM' HIT BY L. A. YOUTH

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22.—(UP)—"Athletic fascism" is running American colleges on the financial rocks, an editorial in the Daily Bruin, student newspaper of U. C. L. A., charged today.

Gilbert Harrison, editor, aimed a blow at "over emphasis on football game receipts" and his article ribbed alumni hungry for grid victories and chief "fascists."

Harrison pointed to St. Mary's college as his object lesson, but it was observed on the campus that the editorial was equally applicable to his own school, where athletic funds are in process of refinancing under the board of regents.

Recent refinancing of athletic funds at St. Mary's was due to "too rapid growth of athletics" under a virtual athletic regime, the editorial charged.

DANVILLE, Ill., Oct. 22.—(UP)—The condition of William P. (Bill) Delancey, 24-year-old catcher for the St. Louis Cardinals, was reported slightly improved at St. Elizabeth's hospital today. He was taken to the hospital yesterday, seriously ill with pneumonia.

Delancey had been visiting at the home of his mother-in-law at Westville, near here.

HARTNETT GETS NATIONAL LOOP PLAYER AWARD

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—(UP)—Charles (Gabby) Hartnett, Chicago Cubs' catcher, was the most valuable player in the National league for 1935, the Baseball Writers' Association of America announced today.

Hartnett won by a shade over Jerome H. (Dizzy) Dean, ace of the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching staff.

Gabby received 75 points against 66 for Dean. Eight members of the association's committee participated in the final poll, with five of them naming Hartnett for first.

Two picked Dean and one named Wally Piker, Boston outfielder.

First choice was worth 10 points, second choice nine and down one point for tenth choice.

Hartnett won first-place both for his timely hitting and work behind the bat. He was among the leading batters, with an average of .344 for the season.

"Arky" Vaughan, Pittsburgh shortstop and leading batsman of both leagues, was given third place with 45 points while Billy Herman, Chicago second-baseman, was fourth with 38 points.

OFFER BAER $20,000 FOR OAKLAND MATCH

OAKLAND, Oct. 22.—(UP)—A $20,000 lure dangled before Max Baer to effect his return to the ring brought a conference today between Leo Leavitt, Oakland promoter, and Baer's business representatives.

Leavitt offered to guarantee Baer $20,000 for a bout Feb. 22 with "Butch" Rogers of Los Angeles.

Although Baer announced he was through with ring warfare after Joe Louis smashed him into submission, Anell Hoffman and the former champion were reported to have lent ready ears to Leavitt's proposals and invited the promoter to their Fair Oaks ranch to confer.

LOS ANGELES—Most other college teams had Monday off but the U. S. C. Trojans scrimmaged yesterday and were to go at it again today as Howard Jones sought to find a combination to give California a battle at Berkeley. Bill Howard was promoted for the fullback post after Cliff Probst showed up with two broken ribs.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY—Bobby Grayson, Bob Hamilton and Wood Adams, crippled regulars of Stanford University's football squad, will be ready to face University of Washington at Seattle, Coach "Tiny" Thornhill predicted today. He may save Hamilton, however, for later games.

BERKELEY—Refreshed by a two-day vacation following the Santa Clara victory, University of California first string players returned to work today to prepare for invasion of the Berkeley campus by the stumbling herd of U. S. C.

MORAGA—Working quietly over a two-week period, Coach "Slip" Madison of St. Mary's has developed a new backfield combination to throw against University of San Francisco in their annual clash Sunday, reports from the Moraga campus said today.

SEATTLE, Wash.—Taking no chances in injuring his somewhat brittle star halfbacks, Coach Jimmy Phelan has ordered light practice for the Washington Huskies this week to prepare for Stanford. Fresh wants By Haines and Jimmy Cain fit in an effort to take the Cardinals into camp.

LOS ANGELES—Coach Bill Spaulding said his U. S. C. Bruins will have a heavy scrimmage today as the unbeaten Westwood team developed an offensive line. The Bruins will be in practice late today, was expected back for action.

COOK CALLS FOR SCRIMMAGE TO AID DON PUNCH

CONVINCED that lack of sufficient scrimmage is the reason his men did not do so well against Citrus, Coach Bill Cook today stated that this week will be one of hard work and long drills at the Bowl so the Dons will be ready to play four hard quarters of football at Chaffey Saturday.

Much work will be spent on tackling practice as Cook was especially displeased with the feeble attempts of "grabbing" his men did last Friday night. Charging his quarterbacks as having a continuity and sequence in choosing plays, another of the smiling mentor's work this week will be to give special instruction to Oliver McCarter, Joe Herbert and Bruce Harnois, the "big three" of the signal-barkers.

Yesterday's scrimmage again illustrated a lacking punch in the line so noticeable against the Owls. This must be rectified before Saturday because Chaffey has a strong defense. Fullerton had to take to the air to score after numerous attempts through the line had proved fruitless.

Evidence that the Panthers are "pointing" toward Santa Ana is the fact that Coach Butk Harker has personally scouted the Dons' two conference games against Riverside and Citrus. Following the latter struggle, the Chaffey mentor was seen carrying on an earnest conversation with Coach Al Claves of the Owls.

Putting in a late appearance at the Bowl yesterday was David Beal who checked out grid tots. Beal, 160-pound brother of Mac Beal, regular quarter at Santa Ana high school, played center on the "B" squad while attending Santa Ana. As a Don he intends to concentrate on end.

Al Oliphant, who shows fine playing attitude and spirit, is making rapid improvement at tackle, according to Coach Cook Oliphant, a 174-pounder, has to cut his practicing short every night to go to work at a local taxicab office. Despite his shortened drills Oliphant is improving at a rate that causes Cook to believe he may be a "first string" player before the season is over.

Clarence Bolton, regular tackle, went to Los Angeles today to see a bone-specialist about a knee injury that has been bothering him since the Riverside game. This is a recurrence of an ailment that bothered him in high school.

Beall Returns To Saint Football Squad

Encouraged by the return of Mac Beal, first string quarterback whose absence from the Long Beach game made the heart grow fonder, Santa Ana high school's football squad today was in the midst of its first and only "bye" week of the entire season.

Realizing he has a large job on his hands to prepare the "Saints" for their next Coast league game—here November 2 with Alhambra Coach Bill Foote made a number of significant changes in his lineup for yesterday's "at-home" scrimmage which opened a round of heavy work.

Quarterback Beall attended practice in a track suit but did not participate in any heavy work. He will be ready to go next week. Fooe promoted to the first string five hitherto "unknowns." Don Kennedy, Southern California junior golf champion, appeared at left end instead of Capt. Erwin Youel, who dropped down to the second team. Youel has been "undiscovered" most of the season by a sore knee. Vernon Corney was at right end, Joe Walker, Omp at right end, Joe Kadowaki at quarterback and Ralph Blower at left halfback.

While emphasizing that the changes did not mean a general squad "snipe" because of the Saints' poor showing at Long Beach, the consensus of unofficial opinion was that the new first team would stand until the members lost their jobs. Places other than those mentioned were manned by Bob Reid, left tackle; "Bud" Harwood, left guard; Jack Robinson, center; Bill Musick, fullback, and Len Stafford, right half.

The second team lined up with Youel at left end, Charley Swann, left guard; Ferris Wall, left guard; Eldon Richards, center; Dick Horton, right guard; Mark Stewart, right tackle; Bill Semnacher, right end; Harold Tucker, quarter; Carroll Joy, left half; "Whitey" Mann, right half, and Minoru Nitta, full.

Harold Short, right end; Jim Crowther, right tackle, and Norman Garrett, guard, were not at practice. Crowther had to work. The other two are nursing injuries. Short has a bruised leg which slowed him down at Long Beach and Garrett a dislocated finger.

RISKY EASY WINNER

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Ed ("Babe") Risko, middleweight boxing champion, scored an easy 10-round decision over Chet Paulits, Scranton, in a 10-round non-title bout last night. Risko weighed 163; Paulits, 164 1/2.

By all the rules and regulations of the pachyderms, Ivan (The Awful) Mannagoff should have pinned iniquitous Pat Fraley, the rougher, at the Orange County Athletic last night.

In the first place, it was Ivan's turn. Fraley beat him here last week. And in the second, Mannagoff strikes a public chord whereas the fair-haired Irisher is about as popular as a losing football coach.

But you never can tell about wrestling and wrestlers. Fraley won, handily and in short order. Applying what Announcer Tiger Clinton described as a "leg strangle," Fraley punished the Oakland Russian into submission in 15 minutes and 42 seconds. Mannagoff was on his tummy, his left leg jack-knifed into a most compromising state, when he confessed to Referee Dick Rutherford that the pain was more than he could stand.

Ivan hobbled to his corner, buried his curly head in his hands. Referee Rutherford massaged the tortured kneecap until the bell rang, then asked the glowering Fraley if Pat would give Mannagoff an additional rest period.

"Give 'im nothin'," snarled Pat. "Get 'im out here."

So Mannagoff limped out to his horrible fate. It arrived in a minute-and-a-half. To the layman it was the same old—the old leg jack-knife. But when pressed for the technical name afterward, Referee Rutherford was not so particular. "Just call it a body slam. That's close enough."

The show was a peach. The wrestlers were willing and the crowd just unruly enough to provide those little unadvised touches that make wrestling wrestling.

"Big" Meisinger, one-time Santa Ana Jaycee football player, contributed most of the excitement when, as guiding spirit of a compressed opposition, Temple faces the undefeated, untied gridiron giants run into fresh trouble this week-end. Two games—one each in the mid-west and east—bring four together while most of the remainder face stubborn opposition.

Headline battles again will feature Yale, this time against Army. The Blues, who kept their slate clean by scoring over navy, will be slight favorites to send the other service team out of the undefeated circle.

In the mid-west an undefeated, untied classic pits Marquette against Mississippi.

Of the other 19 major teams with perfect records, at least 12 meet opponents who stand excellent chances of winning.

The hostilities of the undefeated outline as follows:

East—Most of the Atlantic seaboard's undefeated eleven should have little difficulty staying in that class. Princeton encounters a Cornell team which hasn't won in three starts while Syracuse clashes with Brown, another former giant which has yet to win a game. Dartmouth shouldn't have much trouble against Harvard.

Temple and Penn State all have

With games scheduled every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights through the winter, the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. basketball season opens tonight with a pair of Commercial league games.

At 7:30, the defending champion Woolen Mills quiet battles Garlock's Service. An hour later, Scottie's Malted Milks meet Shell Oil. The week's third Commercial league conflict comes at 7:30 tomorrow night, Union Oil opposing Costa Mesa Food Basket.

The annual Santa Ana church league campaign gets under way Wednesday night, at 8:30. The United Presbyterians face St. Peter's Lutheran in the opening game. Another twin bill is listed for Thursday: Christian Missionary Alliance vs. Latter Day Saints at 7:30, and South Methodists vs. Nazarenes, 8:30.

BIG DINNER PRIZES ON NEW PROGRAM DAILY

Inaugurating a new all request prize program, the Bay View Inn cafe, headed by Roy Edwards, is now giving away two full-course chicken dinners daily except Sunday on KREG at 4 p. m.

With no fees, charges nor obligations attached to the prizes, the program is already proving popular with a large number of listeners. Everyone who participates has an equal opportunity to win one of the prizes, but they must be claimed within 24 hours.

Full details of how the prizes are awarded are given with every program. All that is necessary is to telephone a request for any musical selection, popular, classical, hillbilly, band, sacred, organ or any other type, give your name and address, remember the name of the selection you request, and winners at 4:30. Requests will be received between 4 and 4:30 p. m. only.

KREG's request program has been scheduled at the same hour for over four years and is said to be among the most popular programs on the air.

SANTA ANAS WILL ATTEND CHURCH MEET

Members of Spurgeon Memorial M. E. church, South, of Santa Ana, are planning to attend the Pacific Annual Conference of the M. E. church, South, which opens tomorrow at Long Beach and will continue daily during the week, closing next Sunday.

Sessions will be held in the First M. E. church, South, at Third and

Here's Real Help In Avoiding Many Miserable Colds

Unique Medication Designed to Aid Nature's Defenses in Nose and Throat, Where Most Colds Start.

PROVED IN USE BY MILLIONS

In the exclusive formula of Vicks Vapo-rinol has been found a unique and successful aid in preventing many colds—winter's threat to our comfort and health.

Va-tro-nol is especially designed for the nose and upper throat—where most colds start. It aids and stimulates the functions provided by Nature—in the nose—to prevent colds, and to throw off head colds in the early stages. Used in time—at the first nasal irritation, sniffle, or sneeze—just a few drops up each nostril—Va-tro-nol helps to avoid many colds.

Where irritation has led to a clogged-up nose (a stuffy head cold or nasal catarrh) Va-tro-nol reduces swollen membranes—clears clogging mucus—brings comforting relief.

For Fewer and Shorter Colds
Note to mothers—who guard the family's health: Vicks has developed, especially for you, a practical Plan for Better Home Control of Colds. This guide to fewer and shorter colds has been clinically tested by practicing physicians and further proved in everyday home use by millions. Full details of Vicks Plan in each Va-tro-nol package.

Linden streets, Long Beach, with Bishop James Cannon presiding, and the Rev. G. D. Decherd as host.

Following organization of the conference tomorrow, addresses of welcome will be given by Mayor Carl Fletcher, of Long Beach, and the Rev. J. G. Klein, president of the Long Beach ministerial association.

A layman's banquet is set for 6:30 p. m., with Judge H. W. Coale, conference lay leader, presiding over the program.

Dr. J. C. McPheters, conference preacher, will preside at devotionals opening Thursday's session, and will preach at 2:30 p. m. A missionary program is scheduled for 7:30 p. m.

Friday's program includes a conference business session, with a sermon by Dr. McPheters at 2:30 p. m. and a sacred musical program at 7:30, introducing the new hymnal.

Saturday's program will be a duplication of Friday's session, except for a Young People's banquet and program in the evening.

The concluding session, Sunday, opens with a "love feast" at 9:30 a. m., the Rev. J. M. Veems as leader; a sermon by Bishop Cannon at 10:30 a. m., a memorial for deceased preachers and wives at 2 p. m., and the closing sermon, with reading of appointments for the ensuing year, at 7:30 p. m.

CARLSON SPEAKER AT J. C. ASSEMBLY

Oliver Carlson, Eastern journalist, was guest speaker this morning at an assembly held by the students of the Santa Ana Junior college. Carlson used as his subject, "Propaganda."

The speaker is in California for the purpose of writing the life of William Randolph Hearst. He was also the guest speaker at the recent meeting of the Junior College Patrons organization, where he spoke on "Consumer Education." Carlson is also the author of recent articles published in Harper's magazine, the National magazine, and Common Sense.

The assembly was held in the auditorium of the Baptist church and was presided over by Charles Roemer, Associated Students president. It was the fourth student body assembly held by the junior college this year.

HOLLYWOOD HAPPENINGS

By DAN THOMAS, Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 22.—Just in case you've ever lost any sleep wondering why Graeco Marx paints a mustache on his upper lip instead of growing a real one, here's the story. He used to have a real one until he burned part of it off one night when he missed his aim while attempting to light a cigar. Since then he has refused to use his razor sparingly.

Twelve Year Run
Twelve years ago Cecil B. De-Mille made "The Ten Commandments," and the picture is still being shown. It has had a number of bookings in South America during recent months. That's a record of some kind or other.

Won't He Be Surprised!
How's this for optimism? A young actor, recently brought here on a three months' contract, with options, chased all over town the other day to inform his friends that the studio had taken up his option.

"That's fine," replied one listener, "when did they tell you?" "Oh, they haven't told me," the actor replied. "But my time's up and nobody has told me to go home."

Bill and Max, Pale
You've never seen such theater tickets as Warner Brothers put out for the Hollywood premiere of "A Midsummer Night's Dream." Much too large to carry in your pocket, they're printed on parchment and carry pictures of Shakespeare and Max Reinhardt side by side. At that, the customers should get something extra for $5.

AVIATOR TO BE SPEAKER FOR J. C. ENGINEERS

W. L. Cozzens, noted aerial surveyor, will be guest speaker tomorrow night at a meeting of the Santa Ana members of the Associated American Engineers organization on the topic of aerial surveying and mapping. His lecture will be illustrated by moving pictures.

Cozzens has been recently connected with the Fairchild Aerial Survey and at the present time is working on an aerial survey of the Boulder Dam reservoir and the Colorado river.

The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in College hall on the jay-see campus. The public is invited to attend. At the same meeting, the Engineers association will install 12 new members. Those engineering students whose applications for membership were accepted are Lynn Sherrill, William Conrad, Wayne Gray, Perry Planchon, W. H. Brady, John McBride, Bill Hegley, John Forsyth, Chester Hartstock, Norval Witt, Fred Dierker and James Boyd.

AIR WAR ROMANCE AND COMEDY COMING TO WALKER STATE

"People Will Talk," a comedy of domestic life with Mary Boland and Charlie Ruggles in the leads, and "Crimson Romance," a story of love against a background of war, involving an American youth who was an air corps ace with the Germans until America came into the war, are the two feature films that open at Walker's State theater tomorrow for a two day run.

Ben Lyon, Hardie Albright, Sari Maritza and Erich von Stroheim are the leading players in the air story. A climax is reached when the American escapes and meets two of his former close friends in aerial combat.

The short subject is a travelogue, "The Coast of Catalonia." "Doubting Thomas," a Will Rogers comedy, and "The Marines Are Coming" with William Haines and Esther Halston, are on the bill that shows for the last times tonight.

PHONE COMPANY PAYS CITY FEE

Santa Ana was richer by $4464.03 today following a meeting of the city council last night at which time a check for that amount was received from the Southern California Telephone company.

The money amounts to two per cent of the gross receipts of the telephone company for a period ending October 12, 1935, arising from the rights and privileges of the city's franchise granted by ordinance on September 12, 1932. Total gross receipts of the company was reported as $223,201.64, the city's share being $4464.03.

Office Class To Hear Phone Talk

Mrs. Josephine Munro, for many years P. B. X. instructor for the Southern California Telephone Company, will give an instructive talk on "Telephone Courtesy" tomorrow evening, October 23, before the Office Practice class of the adult education department.

This talk is one of a series relating to important duties of office workers, as arranged by the Office Practice class which meets each Wednesday, from 7 to 9 p. m., in room 26 of the Lathrop Junior high school, 1120 South Main street.

GOODWILL TO PAY BUSINESS LICENSE TAX

On the grounds that the Goodwill Industries is a business in competition with local merchants, the city council last night voted that it should be charged a city license the same as other merchants and that an application to hang an electric sign, made by the Industries, be held up until the first license fee was paid.

This action was taken after a report was made to the council by City Attorney Lew Blodgett that he and City Clerk Ed Vegely had made an investigation of the activities of the Industries and had learned that it was buying and selling used merchandise. He reported that recently, however, the Goodwill Industries had done away with its local board of directors and that he had been told that it did not use in business any longer.

Buy Used Furniture
He declared that it was learned that a manager for the company here had been seen at Long Beach auction sales, buying furniture for the local store.

The council was "swamped" with applications to hang electric signs last night three other requests being made.
Plummer Bruns, councilman, declared that he did not like the idea of applicants hanging signs and then asking the council's permission as had been done in more than one of the four cases on file last night. No action was taken on this point however.

The application of the Pep Boys of California to hang a sign at its store at 211 North Main street was approved.

Application of the K. B. Drug company on Fourth street to hang a sign parallel with the building, was approved.

Application of L. Wineberg to hang an 11-foot sign at the corner of Fourth and Birch street for the L and W Liquor store was held up by the council and referred to the chief of police and the police commissioner for investigation.

ALIENIST WILL TALK AT ELKS MEET TONIGHT

Dr. E. H. Williams, Chicago alienist, will be the featured speaker at tonight's meeting of the Santa Ana Elks club, under the general program heading of "Law Enforcement." It was announced today by Exalted Ruler Don Jerome.

Dr. Williams is extremely well grounded in his field, Jerome said, and a qualified speaker on his subject. He is the alienist who was called in by Clarence Darrow in the Massey case, in Honolulu; took prominent roles in the Hickman and has written a number of books said. All American Legion posts on crime detection and procedure.

S. B. Kaufman, former district attorney, will be program chairman in charge of the meeting, Jerome said. All American Legion posts of the county have been invited as special guests to attend.

Preceding the meeting a special entertainment feature for visiting officers of the Pomona Elks lodge has been planned. An entertainment program featuring the Elks double quartet has been arranged.

LOCAL ACTRESS

Pictured as "Susan Ives" in a tense moment during "The Bellamy Trial," below is shown Marion Bruner, who will be seen tonight at the formal opening of the Community play. The play will run for the remainder of the week in Orange county courthouse.

DEMOCRATS TO STAGE DINNER ON OCTOBER 29

Some of the prominent Democratic leaders of the state are expected to attend a dinner to be attended by some 250 Democrats, scheduled at the Knights of Pythias hall in Anaheim at 7 p.m. on October 29.

The dinner is being held under the auspices of the Young Democratic Club of Orange county, with headquarters on West Third street.

George Pearce has charge of the sale of tickets for the dinner and announced today that more than 300 had been placed on sale. Ray La Fonte of Anaheim, has charge of the program for the evening.

Pearson Hall, United States attorney in Los Angeles, will be one of the speakers and Col. Jarome Sears will be another. La Font announced today.

The dinner is one of the occasional get-together affairs planned by the Democrats of the county throughout the next campaign.

Current News And Bible Prophecy Speaker's Topic

Evangelist Phil Kerr will speak tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Christian and Missionary Alliance church, Cypress and Bishop streets, on the fulfillment of Bible prophecy in present days.

Evangelist Kerr will discuss the Ethiopian situation with Italy, and also Great Britain as well as the United States. He will discuss Mussolini's place in prophecy and many other dictators which are coming to the foreground.

Before the message a special program of music from a Los Angeles male quartet as well as Evangelist Kerr singing and playing his own selections. The public is invited to all services which will continue throughout the week.

For the evening, A supper will follow the formal program, it was announced.

TRIAL DRAMA OPENS WEEK'S RUN TONIGHT

If "The Bellamy Trial," with which Santa Ana Community Players are opening their current season tonight in department 2 of the superior court of Orange county in the courthouse, is not convincing in its presentation, it certainly will not be because of any failure on the part of Players, directors or members of the governing board of the association.

Since the entire story of "The Bellamy Trial" is presented in the court room scenes, the first fact that assures playgoers of the convincing qualities of the production, was the success in securing the use of the court room through favorable action on the part of county supervisors. Comment has also been made on the number of lawyers and professional men who are essaying prominent roles.

Faithful Attendance
But added to these has been the faithful attendance on the part of Gladys Simpson Shafer, director, and various members of the cast, at trials which have been in progress in the superior court during the past two weeks. These trials have been especially interesting to feminine members of the cast, including Lois Rees Auer, Elisabeth Finley, Marion Bruner and Betty Maloney Gullid. While men of the cast may have had frequent occasion to watch the progress of a trial if not to be actually connected with one in a legal capacity, it was a new experience for the feminine Players.

"The experience has been invaluable in aiding us in the correct timing and atmosphere of the play," today declared Mrs. Shafer. "We feel that we can make 'The Bellamy Trial' so true to life that our audiences are going to forget for the time being, that they are watching a mimic performance, and are going to lose themselves in following the fate of the principal characters."

Lawyers in Cast
Four actual lawyers, Judge G. Kenneth Seovel, Franklin G. West, John Colwell and J. Parley Smith, are to take prominent roles, Judge Seovel simulating the part that is his in real life, that of judge of a superior court.

All members of the cast were assembled last night in the court room where the final dress rehearsal was given in preparation for the opening performance tonight at 8:15 o'clock. The play will be given each night for the remainder of the week and a few tickets are yet available for each performance with the exception of Thursday night. Santa Ana Lions have taken every available seat for that performance.

There will be no box office at courthouse, so theater goers will have to secure their tickets in advance at the Santa Ana Book store.

Mosquitoes have a wingspread of more than four square yards for each pound of body weight.

WATER PROGRAM WITH NO ADDED DEBT SUGGESTED BY RANCHER

By LOUIS ROBINSON
Failure of the water bonds brought expressions of both regret and relief from Orange county citizens. The vote indicated that more than a third of the people were relieved. No doubt there were some selfish interests working for the bonds. On the other hand, there were many unselfish voters who sanctioned the measure because they considered it a step in the right direction. The proposed plan did not appeal to all of these as the best move that could be made for water conservation and flood control. But they felt it was time something of the kind should be started. They realized the impossibility of procuring a program that would harmonize all conflicting interests and equally benefit

A sorry reflection is cast on the pay for this brush-cutting, leaf-raking foolishness.

With ignorance and inaction we are bonding posterity for work that is next to useless even to us. Work that before our grandchildren and great-grand children have finished paying for, nature will have long since obliterated, with the exception perhaps of some mountain faces scarred by eroded and obsolescent roads and truck trails.

Another case where the sins of the fathers will have been visited on the children, even unto the third and fourth generation.

Could Have Built Dams
There has been enough of this so-called federal money spent on or adjacent to the national forest area of Orange county through the C.C.C., C.W.A., and other organizations during the past three years to have built four or five dams as big as the Irvine dam in the Santiago.

Similar or proportionately greater amounts have been wasted on the Angelus, San Jacinto, and other Southern California forests.

A far greater degree of fire protection can be obtained by the use of fire itself, especially on these sage-brush forests.

A system of fewer but wider fire-breaks, burned to a width that would make the spread of big fires impossible, could be established and maintained at less than one per cent of what is now being spent on the present inefficient methods, which would leave over 99 per cent to apply on permanent construction to control floods and conserve storm water for beneficial use.

Water Storage Problems
The old saying, "Don't put all your eggs in one basket," might well be applied to our water storage problems. Several smaller dams in each drainage basin could be made to hold as much water as one big one. If one should happen to fail the threat to life and property would be small.

Smaller structures would work in better as government relief projects. Each complete unit could be finished with much outlay of time and money.

Benefits from such construction would be distributed more equally over the entire drainage area, instead of limited to the power portions as was proposed in the defeated measure.

Furthermore, the engineers may have overestimated the amount of storage necessary for effective flood protection. "Experience is still the best teacher." As the smaller units were completed and put to use it might be found that the necessary degree of protection and conservation would be reached with less storage capacity.

Conservation Needed
An effective system of water conservation and flood control is a good investment for a single drainage basin, a county, or even larger incorporated areas. It should pay for itself in flood protection alone in from fifteen to fifty years depending on the locality and weather conditions involved. Where water is as valuable as it is here the benefits are much greater from conservation than flood control. And properly constructed works will stand for centuries with no additional outlay for upkeep or repairs.

There is no kind of public project more needed or useful to Southern California than this, and yet with all the millions spent here on relief work, with much stress from Washington to the effect that all undertakings must be useful, a very small portion of these funds have actually accomplished anything at all in this line.

A logical line of action is for each drainage basin to form its own flood control and conservation district.

Our only other alternative and by far the most immediate, economical and sensible solution under existing circumstances is to make a concerted effort to inform our federal administrative official as to our local problems and show them how they can be solved with our funds they already have on hand.

Methods Suggested

If army engineers can build dams, give them the C.C.C. and other relief labor. Take the tractors and other equipment that is now being used to needlessly mar our mountain sides under the forest service and put them to building dams. Additional equipment and material necessary for these structures could be bought out of the six millions of our money the government was going to donate to us if we had matched it with the local bond issue.

If we know our needs and make united effort to enlighten and persuade our servants in Washington as to how our money should best be applied to gain those needs we should get results; providing, of course our servants are loyal and working for the best interests of those who hire and pay them.

Should our servants fail to render us faithful and sincere service then the only choice we have left is, at the earliest opportunity, to change servants.

CLASS PARTY FRIDAY
GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 22.—Members of Beta Sigma Sunday school class of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold a Halloween party in the high school gym Friday evening. It will be a masked costume affair. Harvey Emley is teacher of the class.

VISIT AT BEACH
HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Russell McChoulton and family, of Cincinnati, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson, of Huntington Beach, route 1. The McChoultons expect to locate in Southern California.

WON'T SALUTE

Refusal of Carleton Nichols Jr., below, eight-year-old adherent of the "Jehovah's Witness" cult, to salute the American flag at school in Massachusetts, cost his father and Edward Holton James $25 each, the fine imposed following conviction of disturbing the school when they went to explain the boy's stand.

CITY TO SEEK WPA HELP FOR ROAD PROJECT

Another step toward the improvement of a number of Santa Ana streets through WPA was made last night when the city council instructed City Engineer J. L. McBride to act as sponsor for the city for a $9672 project on streets.

The project calls for the grading and surfacing of Edgewood road from Main street to Santiago avenue; Bush street from Edgewood road 350 feet south; Santa Clara avenue from Flower street to Greenleaf street; Grant street, Orange avenue to Maple street; Cubbon street, Bristol to Shelton street; Baker street, Cubbon street to Fairview avenue; Washington avenue, English to Artesia street.

The city's share of expenses on the proposed project is $3010.

POLICE BEGIN DANCE TICKET SALES TODAY

Santa Ana police officers started today selling tickets for their first annual ball, to be held at the American Legion Home on Birch street on the night of November 9.

Tickets which sell for $1 each, will be sold for the purpose of raising a fund with which the police department expects to equip its gymnasium in the new city hall building. No arrangement had been made to equip the gym with city funds and the police faced having bare walls for their squad room and for the gymnasium.

No Set Goal

No set goal for the number of tickets to be sold has been made by the department. Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard said, "We are asking the people of the city to come to the dance as a means of helping the department with its plans for furnishing the two rooms. A big time will be had, there will be good music and entertainment," he said.

Plans also are being made for a number of door prizes for persons attending the dance.

Nelson in Charge

N. C. Nelson, sergeant, has charge of the ticket sales. Every police officer on the force will sell them. Howard said today he hopes enough tickets will be sold within a few days to make the dance a big success.

No announcement has as yet been made as to the orchestra or other entertainment.

MRS. NORTHCROSS QUILTS CITY BOARD

Mrs. Eleanor Northcross, member of the city library board, tendered her resignation to the city council last night, and it was accepted with regrets. The city clerk was instructed to write her a letter expressing the council's regret that she will not continue in the position to which she was appointed several months ago.

Mrs. Northcross stated in her communication to the board that other obligations forced her to resign.

"Open House" Planned On 50th Anniversary Of W. D. Barkers

Planning a gala celebration of their golden wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Barker are setting aside the afternoon and evening of Monday, October 28, in which to receive friends in their home, 430 South Birch street.

Their many years' residence in Santa Ana and the Southland, coupled with their prominence, especially in Masonic circles, have gained for Mr. and Mrs. Barker a host of friends, who are anticipating sharing the pleasures of their golden wedding day with them.

In advance of the open house of the afternoon reception from 3 to 5 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Barker are entertaining their three sons and families and a few close friends at an anniversary dinner in James' cafe. They will maintain "open house" again in the evening, receiving from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Recent Bride Inspires Miscellaneous Shower

Mrs. Carl H. Geisbert (Dorothy Thorpe) was honored at a bridal shower given recently when her aunt, Mrs. Thomas A. Duncan and Mrs. Louis S. Stevens joined as hostesses in the Duncan home, 1115 West Pine street.

Mrs. and Mrs. Geisbert, whose marriage was an event of the season, have taken up residence at 308 East Pomona street, where they are at home to their friends.

A feature of the shower was a mock wedding presented by Mrs. Stevens' small children, Louella and Verne Stevens. Miss Roberta Emerson was at the piano for the wedding march. Mrs. Geisbert was showered with miscellaneous gifts.

The co-hostesses served refreshments at the afternoon's close. Red Dahlias from the Duncan gardens served as decorations. Prizes in a coffee contest went to Miss June Buffham and Mrs. Flora Hutchinson.

Present in addition to Mrs. Duncan and Mrs. Stevens were the honor guests, Mrs. Geisbert, her mother and grandmother, Mrs. C. M. Thorpe and Mrs. M. Stevens; Mrs. Flora Hutchinson, Mrs. Alex Zinda and son, Donald; Mrs. Louis Causley and children, Ruth and Louis Jr.; Mrs. Robert Emerson and daughter, Roberta; Mrs. Anna Mae Ross, Miss Beverly Jeanne Duncan, Carl Verne and Louella Stevens, Mrs. Frank Hutaing (Lill Esten) and tiny daughter, Carla Francis, of Wilmington and Mrs. Jesse Elliott of Garden Grove.

Mrs. and Mrs. Geisbert were married in Yuma, Ariz., by the Rev. H. A. Brown, Presbyterian minister. They left immediately for a six weeks' visit with the bridegroom's relatives in central Kansas, from which they have just returned.

Surprise Party Marks Silver Anniversary In Plumb Home

Celebrating Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. Plumb's silver wedding anniversary was a party given in their home in Tustin Saturday night when a group of friends joined in staging a surprise affair. Members of two clubs in which Mrs. Plumb holds membership were included in the group.

Mr. and Mrs. Plumb had planned a very quiet celebration of the event. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bartholomew and Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Hells had dropped in for an evening of bridge. Much to the surprise of the hosts, they were joined by 40 other friends shortly after 9 o'clock.

Guests presented the honored couple with a silver tray. Refreshments provided by the self-invited group were served at the close of the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Plumb were married October 19, 1910, in their present home. Mrs. Plumb was the former Miss Frances Adams.

Sharing the anniversary affair with Mr. and Mrs. Plumb were Messrs. and Mesdames Henry Adams, Cood Adams, Felton Brown, J. A. Prescott, C. A. Nisson, Robert Bartholomew, Roy Brown, James Rice, Hayward Richards, Fred Wilson, Robert Spurgeon, Bradford Hells, Ridley Smith, Robert Alexander, the Misses Gertrude Hells, Joan Thieme, Marvel Baker, Georgia Jewett, Mesdames C. W. Fox, Ada Hells, Ethel Shike, Alice Peterson, Hazel Turner, Anna Bowman and Mr. Victor Hawk.

Home Appointments are Shown Ebell Juniors

Displaying new glassware, pottery and chromium ware to illustrate her talk on gifts for the home, Mrs. J. E. Walker of Wiesemann's was guest speaker at the meeting of Junior Ebell Household Economics section yesterday. Mrs. George Bradley and Mrs. William Jerome Jr. joined as co-hostesses for the affair in the home of Mrs. Bradley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McBride, 1110 Spurgeon street.

Mrs. Quincy L. Hardy presided at the tea table, cheery with yellow chrysanthemums and harmonizing tapers.

Members present included Mesdames LeRoy Burns, John Bradley, William Overhiser, Norrell Evans, H. Raymond Smith, Robert Heffner, Fenton Dean, Charles L. Weber, Quincy L. Hardy, F. C. Horton, Alvin Stauffer, Miss Margaret Guard, and the two hostesses, Mesdames George Bradley and William Jerome Jr.

Visitor From Stockton Is Guest of Honor At Park Party

Latest in the pleasant events planned during an extended visit in the Southland of Mrs. R. E. Henderson of Stockton, was a public and family reunion at which she was guest of honor Sunday in Jack Fisher park.

Mrs. Henderson arrived several weeks ago to visit in the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Smith, 802 East Sixth street, and especially to greet her tiny new granddaughter, little Barbara Ellen Smith, born to Mr. and Mrs. Duane L. Smith on August 11. Mrs. Duane Smith will be remembered as Miss Edna Hearn. Sunday's park party was significant as the very first picnic of the tiny Barbara Ellen.

Mrs. Henderson's sister and three brothers living in the Southland, were present with their respective families, and were Mrs. Theron Means and James C. Clark of this city, Jeff I. Clark of Huntington Beach, and Joseph Grover of Culver City.

Dinner was served at a table decorated with trays of autumn fruits and Mexican sunflowers from the garden of the Delbert Wilkinsons of Garden Grove.

In the party with the honor guest, Mrs. Henderson, were Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Duane L. Smith and baby daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Theron Means, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Clark, Mrs. Hazel Ryan and son, Joe, Mr. and Mrs. K. Ulrich and daughter, Sheryl Ann, and G. Hiatt, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Glover, Culver City; Clinton Baldwin, Placentia; Mr. and Mrs. James Means and sons, Jimmie; Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Wilkinsons, Mrs. Hattie Clark, Walter Clark, the Misses Sylvia and Barbara Brown and Leota Clark, Garden Grove.

Mrs. Henderson plans to remain for several months in the Southland. Since her arrival she has visited the San Diego exposition, accompanying her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Rogers of Stockton, and their son and daughter, Lester and Katherine, who have now returned to Stockton. She also had opportunity to visit the fair in Pomona shortly after her arrival.

200 Guests Take Part In Day Nursery Board Party

Extending hospitality on a large scale, members of Ebell Day Nursery board were hostesses last night in the clubhouse, where more than 200 guests assembled for entertainment features which marked the very successful party.

Auction and contract bridge play was in progress at 50 tables in the peacock room. Other guests assembled in the lounge for a program of music and book reviews.

Lounge Program
Mrs. T. R. Trawick presided over the program, introducing Irma Huffman May, vocalist, and her accompanist, Miss Lenora Tompkins. Their numbers included "A Lad in Khaki," "A Chinese Lullaby" from "East is West," "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" and as an encore, "April Fool."

Monna Summers Smith of Santa Ana Public Library, reviewed a play, "The Post Road," by Wilbur Daniel Steele and Norma Mitchell, and touched lightly on a group of late books. They included "Life with Father" (Clarence Day); "Autumn" (Robert Nathan), with its "beautiful philosophy"; "The Great Trek" (Max Miller), "filled with thrilling incidents"; and "Los Angeles" (Harry Carr).

Mrs. James Irvine had contributed gifts for lucky awards. From this assortment were selected packages for the artists who presented the lounge program. Stein's Stationery store had donated the wrappings, orange cellophane and black ribbons. Mrs. Herbert Rankin, Mrs. L. G. Swales and Mrs. T. R. Trawick formed the committee for the lounge party. Mrs. H. B. Van Dien was winner of the prize.

Local Group Attends San Diego Conclave

Santa Anans took active part this past weekend in the first annual Southern District conclave of the Junior Membership of California Federation of Women's clubs at San Diego. Officers of the district junior group were elected, with Mrs. Russell Wilson of Santa Ana and Thelma Smith of San Bernardino to serve as vice presidents under Eleanor Wilson of San Diego. Frances Carpenter of San Diego was named secretary.

Miss Florence Backs of Anaheim was appointed program chairman for the next conclave, to be held in Fontana.

Mrs. Russell Wilson took part in the convention program, making a short talk in response to the welcome extended the delegates. Mrs. E. D. White of Santa Ana, southern district adviser, gave a report. The organization's project for the year will be to aid in purchasing new talking book machines for the blind, it was announced.

Completing the group attending from this city were Mrs. R. C. Harris, county chairman of juniors, and Miss Elizabeth Smith, Mrs. Louise Webster, Mrs. Louise Norton, Miss Eleanor Crookshank, Junior Ebell society; the Misses Betty Timmons, Virginia Currie, Alice Peavey, Mary Ellen Dudley, Girls' Ebell society.

While visiting the exposition in Balboa park after the conclave, the group had as headquarters the Orange county booth, where Miss Lolita Mead of this city is hostess.

Hermosa O. E. S.

Initiation was conferred upon Mrs. Margaret Church at the stated meeting of Hermosa O. E. S. last night in Masonic temple, with worthy matron and patron Mrs. Vera Jacoby and Dr. Cassius Paul presiding.

A vocal solo by Mrs. Rena Bouchard was included in the service, and Mrs. Jacob Bohlender, president of the past matrons' association, assisted in the ritual work.

Mrs. Jeanette Tarpley, Hermosa member, elected grand matron of the 57th district last week, was escorted to the east.

Guests introduced included Mesdames Emma Henry of Colton, Ia., May Goble of Truckee, Bernice Conrad of Erie, N. D., Laura Schofield, Buena Park, Margaret Rear, Centerville, Ia., Evangeline Stark, Monticello, Minn., Beryl Hatch, Eagle Rock; Helen Smith Mabee of Los Angeles.

Election of officers and reports of grand chapter meeting last week at Coronado will be featured at the next meeting, November 4.

Officers and the new member were accorded honors during the refreshment hour following the meeting. Tables were set in star shape with appointments in Halloween colors for tamale pie and coffee served by a committee composed of Mesdames Eva McConnell, Eleanor Shaw, Sue Shafer, John Crawford, Elma Platt and Bessie Meyer.

It was customary for the book-owner to have his portrait designed on the cover of each book to avoid its loss by theft, during the 14th century in Italy.

200 Guests Take Part In Day Nursery Board Party

Extending hospitality on a large scale, members of Ebell Day Nursery board were hostesses last night in the clubhouse, where more than 200 guests assembled for entertainment features which marked the very successful party.

Auction and contract bridge play was in progress at 50 tables in the peacock room. Other guests assembled in the lounge for a program of music and book reviews.

Lounge Program
Mrs. T. R. Trawick presided over the program, introducing Irma Huffman May, vocalist, and her accompanist, Miss Lenora Tompkins. Their numbers included "A Lad in Khaki," "A Chinese Lullaby" from "East is West," "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" and as an encore, "April Fool."

Monna Summers Smith of Santa Ana Public Library, reviewed a play, "The Post Road," by Wilbur Daniel Steele and Norma Mitchell, and touched lightly on a group of late books. They included "Life with Father" (Clarence Day); "Autumn" (Robert Nathan), with its "beautiful philosophy"; "The Great Trek" (Max Miller), "filled with thrilling incidents"; and "Los Angeles" (Harry Carr).

Mrs. James Irvine had contributed gifts for lucky awards. From this assortment were selected packages for the artists who presented the lounge program. Stein's Stationery store had donated the wrappings, orange cellophane and black ribbons. Mrs. Herbert Rankin, Mrs. L. G. Swales and Mrs. T. R. Trawick formed the committee for the lounge party. Mrs. H. B. Van Dien was winner of the prize.

Other Party Details

Fifty angelfood cakes served as table prizes in the card room. Special awards went to Casson D. Hinely, R. O. Winckler and Mrs. Wade Warner.

Card tables were spread with orange covers and decked with sprays of orange cottonaster at the refreshments hour. Ebell women donated materials for the apple and pumpkin pies which had been baked by Mrs. H. A. Gerrard and Mrs. C. A. Browning.

Mrs. A. G. Flagg, general chairman of the party, assumed additional responsibility of tickets, reservations and publicity for the party. Mrs. C. K. Dodge, Day Nursery board chairman, served with Mrs. Flagg on tickets and reservations. Mrs. H. A. Gerrard, Mrs. T. D. Knights, Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth, Mrs. C. A. Browning, Mrs. R. G. Tutthill and Mrs. J. E. Gowen formed the refreshment committee. Mrs. Carl Klatt was in charge of tables and chairs; Mrs. D. D. Waynick, card accessories; Mrs. Rankin, decorations.

Proceeds from the party will be used to take care of the needs of the Day Nursery.

Pegasus Club

Meeting with Mrs. Frank Lansdown, 325 Grant street, Pegasus club members enjoyed an interesting program Thursday afternoon developed from a quotation chosen by Mrs. George Bond from Carlyle.

By an odd coincidence, three members had chosen for their treatment the same situation, that of Adam and Eve. A clever one-act play written by Mrs. Frank Was and read by Mrs. Charles Briscoe was called "The Exiles," centering about a conversation of the erring couple. Mrs. Walter Foote read a poem, "Daughter of Eve," and Mrs. Nelson Visel presented an editorial entitled "The Hemlock Cup" in which she illustrated the need for greater control among women by the story of their many times great-grandmother.

Mrs. Earl Morris read an article on "Smiles," while Mrs. Bond chose "Harvest of Seeding" as the subject for her own manuscript.

Voted a new member of the club, Mrs. J. B. Wolfe who has recently come here from the Orient, replied to her election in gracious Chinese phrases. As contribution to the program she read a poem called "Changes" which expressed her hopes of finding a new home here.

At a special request of the hostess, Mrs. Charles Briscoe sang "The Beaming Eyes," accompanying herself at the piano.

Mrs. Lansdown was assisted by Mrs. Rose Havely in serving a dessert course for which her table appointments followed a Halloween motif.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. C. C. Fuller, 1014 Louise street. The subject will be a Lowell quotation chosen by Mrs. Caleb Jackson.

Present Thursday were Mesdames Madeline Macdonald, C. C. Fuller, Caleb Jackson, Charles Briscoe, Rose Havely, Earl Morris, George Bond, Nelson Visel, Frank Was, Walter Foote, J. B. Wolfe, and the hostess, Mrs. Lansdown.

Hallow'en Amusements Shared By B. P. W. Club Women

Imbued with the holiday spirit, Business and Professional Women last night turned out in numbers to enjoy a Halloween party planned by the October program committee, Miss Harriet Whidden, Miss Ella Van Benthussen and Mrs. Marie Fowler.

Dinner was served at 6 o'clock in the Doris Kathryn to a motley crew, for the majority of members donned carnival attire for the occasion. So perhaps a plain woman of covered wagon days sat next to a farmer lad, or a saucy clown winked shamelessly at a Spanish gypsy, so varied were the costumes.

By a system of numbers, four members had their fortunes told by cards in the expert hands of Miss Alma Karlsson. They were Miss Lorraine French, president; Mrs. N. E. Mayhill, Miss Bernice Hart and Mrs. Adelaide Cochran. After various amusing games, party guests gave the remainder of the evening to playing whoopee. Miss Lula Ott won the "galloping prize," and Mrs. Edith Thatcher was presented prize for high score.

Mrs. Thatcher and her sister, Miss Mabel Whiting, were welcomed as new members to the club, while equally warm welcome was expressed to Mrs. Laura Murray, renewing her membership. Miss Flora Greenow of San Francisco, and Miss Frances Emans of the Los Angeles club, were special guests.

Prominent among the chrysantheums, asters and Halloween figures of the decorations, were the district attendance cup which Santa Ana clubwomen brought home from the quarterly district convalesce Saturday and Sunday in Laguna Beach.

Early Morning Wedding Anticipated For Distinctive Charm

Plans being completed today by Miss Rosemary Ashen and Albert J. Banks, for their wedding Thursday morning at 8 o'clock, indicate an impressive ceremony to be held in St. Joseph Catholic church of which both are members.

Mrs. Banks is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Banks, 702 Spurgeon street. Miss Ashen, daughter of the Clyde H. Ashens, 1502 French street, will be a strikingly lovely bride with her glossy black hair, velvety eyes, and skin with the texture of a camellia petal. She has chosen for her costume a deep green crepe in ensemble effect with smart little jacket, hat, gloves and slippers will be black, and she will wear a long spray of white gardenias.

Mrs. V. C. Croal as matron of honor, will be attired in black chiffon velvet with hat of the same material, and will wear flowers in French bouquet arrangement. Mr. Banks will be assisted by Paul Hauptert as best man, while Walter J. Markel and Earl Halderman will usher. The Rev. Father Timothy J. Galvin, pastor of St. Joseph church, will read the wedding service.

The church, with its flickering altar candles, will be rendezvous for all friends of the two families, for they are making invitation to the wedding, a general one. There will be a musical program featuring the traditional Wagner and Mendelssohn wedding marches with Mrs. Charles Van Wyk (LaVerne Harrell) at the organ. Mrs. Harold Brown and Mrs. Van Wyk will sing two duos numbers, "O Lord I Am Not Worthy" and "The Holy Hour."

Following the wedding will be a breakfast for the wedding party and members of the two family circles, at the Doris-Kathryn Tea shoppe. Appointments for this function will be in bridal white with a touch of silver. Mrs. Ashen has fashioned the unique candelabra to be used, employing snowy crepe paper edged with silver. Each candelabrum will bear three slim white tapers, while miniature candelabra will be used as favors in conjunction with graceful white cutups and their accompanying place cards.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashen and Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Banks will be in the receiving line with the wedding party. Mrs. Ashen will be gowned in black and silver with black accessories, and Mrs. Banks will wear the new autumn purple with hat to match and other dress accessories in leaf brown.

Covers will be laid for the new Mr. and Mrs. Bert Banks, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Banks, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde H. Ashen, Mrs. Mary Ann Sullivan, grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. William Bonsett, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Stenomsma, Dr. and Mrs. V. C. Croal, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Markel, Paul Hauptert, Earl Halderman, Harry Ashen and Jimmie Ashen.

The young people do not plan a honeymoon trip at present. They will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Banks on Spurgeon street, until they decide upon a definite location.

Mrs. Banks is taking a special business course preparatory to entering his father's packing business when the season opens. He attended Santa Clara university after taking his preparatory course at Villanova Preparatory school. Ojal. His fiancée is a graduate of Santa Ana high school, later attending Immaculate Heart college, Hollywood.

Auxiliary Party Draws More Than 100 Guests

Visitors from various Southland points were in Santa Ana Saturday night for the very successful party with which Women's auxiliary to Santa Ana Typographical union entertained in M. W. A. hall.

In all there were more than 100 guests to participate in events of the evening. Pumpkins and black cat figures adorning the hall established a Halloween theme observed in all party details. Bouquets of marigolds added color to the scene.

Mrs. E. W. Ellis, general chairman, and Mrs. C. A. Rousseau took charge of the two rooms in which bridge and canteen were in progress. Prize winners in bridge were Mrs. Reginald Hartley and Mrs. Orle Sanford, who scored first and second high for women; William Gray, Mrs. Carl Fisher and Mrs. J. W. Parkinson aided the group, as did Mr. Fisher, who awarded the prizes.

Door prizes went to Mrs. William Marymoe and John Fraley. Mrs. Pearl Meltesen won the grand award, which was a quilt.

Pumpkin pie topped with whipped cream was served at long tables gay with orange and black streamers, black cat figures and other decorations.

Among those who assisted in working out plans for the party in addition to Mrs. Ellis, was the president, Mrs. William Lawrence, and Mesdames C. A. Rousseau, Dean Lawrence, Charles Brown, E. Kimmel, M. E. Stilwell and J. W. Jones.

Mrs. Carl Fisher and Mrs. J. W. Parkinson aided the group, as did Mr. Fisher, who awarded the prizes.

Corps Entertains With Benefit Party

Given for the benefit of Sedgwick W. R. C., an enjoyable party of Friday night had its setting in the home of Mrs. Hattie Cozad, 638 French street.

Forty guests took part in the event. Prize winners in 500 were Mrs. Viola Phipps and Mrs. Gertrude Beall, who scored high and low. J. Rinshee and Miss Lillian Wennstrom scored high and low at bridge. Mrs. Eldora Demarest won honors in a domino contest.

Pumpkin pie topped with whipped cream was served with coffee. Assisting Mrs. Cozad at this time were Mrs. Meta Caldwell, Mrs. Della Miller and Miss Eleanor Cozad, daughter of the home.

Club Social Section Meets for Bridge

Entertaining Thursday in her home, 818 South Birch street, Mrs. Rolla Hays added another pleasant dessert bridge party to the series being given by Social section members of Woman's club of Santa Ana.

In receiving guests, Mrs. Hays had the assistance of Mrs. E. D. Froeschie and Mrs. Elizabeth Reed, completing the hostess committee. They had planned a dainty dessert course served to the accompaniment of Halloween appointments including jack o' lantern centerpieces for the half dozen tables.

Both bridge and anagrams were played during the afternoon. Linen guest towels were given as prizes to Mesdames Stovall, Edith Wilson, Rolla Hays Jr., F. C. Martin, Jennie Crawford, and her houseguest, Mrs. Fannie A. Davis, of Washington, D. C.

An additional entertainment feature was provided by Mrs. James Frothingham who gave a group of humorous readings.

Party guests included Mesdames Birkhead, John J. Vernon, E. M. Waycott, E. A. Elwell, F. C. Martin, Margaret Ahern, Mary Crowley, J. E. Limbird, R. A. McMahon, J. H. Tompkins, C. F. Crose, R. W. Nalle, James Frothingham, Miss Linda Kroeker, and the hostess trio, Mrs. Hays, Mrs. Froeschie and Mrs. Reed.

Nurses Of District Are Entertained

Reports of the mid-year conference held in Los Angeles October 5 constituted the program for the meeting of California State Nurses' association, district 16, held Friday evening in the lecture room at St. Joseph hospital.

Mrs. Rose Jackson recounted concave activities concerning nursing bureaus. Mrs. Ann Lockhart spoke on publicity. Mrs. Ruth Fitch on education, and Miss Lena Neumeyer read the resolutions of the presidents' conference.

Refreshments were served following the session to the group which included from Santa Ana, Mesdames Rose Jackson, Loretta Kelly, Helen Nelson, Eva Roelands, Mabel Bement, Edna Eklund, Winifred Barrett, Hazel Paul; the Misses Lena Neumeyer, Betty Swanson, Ellen Smith, May Salter, Elizabeth Spahr, Theresa Haugness, Gladys Neff, Melba Ferguson, Rose Liebermann, Etienne Lsabelle, Jeanne Grandy, Gladys Nelhaus and Thelma Johnston.

From Orange were Mesdames Ann Lockhart, Ruth Fitch, Clara Schnakenberg, Martha Peltier; the Misses Lena Wunderlich, Elaine Brown, and Faye Tarvin.

The Misses Lenore Terrell, Shirley Criss, Ellen Prindle, Claire Garrett, Thelma MacRamon, Vivian Bradbury, Jeanne Triplett, Margaret Hess, Isabelle Esser, Gertrude Andrew, Florence Boshier of Orange County General hospital; Mrs. Julia Salisbury of Anaheim and the hostess group, Sisters Damien, Marie Ange, M. Emeret, Leo Paul, Alfreda, Aramella and Cecelia of St. Joseph hospital.

Intimate Club Group

Meeting Thursday afternoon in the A. W. Rimel home, 931 South Ross street, that intimate group of friends banded together as the "W.T.N.M. club," held another of its pleasant meetings.

Chat and needlework sped the afternoon hours until tea time when Mrs. Rimel suggested an adjournment to the dining room. There the scene hinted of Halloween, with a table appointed in holiday colors, and many candles to brighten the room with its drawn curtains.

The hostess had prepared a special surprise in the birthday cakes

MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Luncheon
Cabbage and Shrimp Salad
Mineral oil mayonnaise
2 thin slices raisin bread toast with ½ teaspoonful of butter
Pot of clear tea, no sugar
Calory total, 350.

Grate a good cupful of new cabbage, combine with ½ can of shrimp, diced, a bit of green pepper or onion, and diet mayonnaise to mix to your taste.

Game Cooking

Prepare a roast of venison, moose, or bear by rubbing surface of meat with soft fat or butter. Rub flour over all surface and place the roast in a large covered roaster. First, rub the roaster with a crushed garlic clove, slice 2 large onions into the pan, and over them crumble 3 bay leaves, salt and pepper. Arrange the roast on this bed, brown in a fast oven about 15 minutes, then add 1 cup water and 1 cup of sour red wine. Cover, and roast 20 minutes to the pound. If the roast is a good size, less time in small. Baste occasionally, and as the meat bakes done, add more wine. No matter how old or tough the game is, cooked in this manner, it will be deliciously flavored and tender.

—Contributed.

The same method of cooking might be applied to a leg of mutton or a large rump roast of beef. The seasoning colors and flavors these meats, so that you think you are eating venison.

Pumpkin Cup Custard

2 eggs
2 cups rich milk, scalded with ¼ cup sugar
Pinch of salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ginger
1 cup canned pumpkin
Grapenuts and butter
Scald milk with sugar and seasonings, add pumpkin, mix well, remove from fire and stir in the beaten eggs. Stirring well from the bottom, divide the pumpkin custard between six or seven glass custard cups, heated with a bit of butter in each cup. Scatter grapenuts and bits of butter over the tops and bake, the cups sitting in a pan of hot water, slow oven.

Chili to serve, or serve hot with a little cream.

If you like the flavor of pumpkin and are suffering from an attack of antipumpkin making, this custard will satisfy your taste for pumpkin.

Have You Ever Done This?

You know what a lot of dust you can stir up when sweeping a rug, or even a bare floor. Dipping the broom in water doesn't help a lot, either. But this system of dust-laying does:

Fill a fly spray gun with whatever polishing oil you use. But first wash your broom in hot suds and let it dry thoroughly. Then spray the broom thoroughly with the oil. It works like magic and cuts the cleaning time almost in half.

Wednesday: Spanish Puff Fritters, a rich dessert, and Ham Loaf.

Council Ready To Lease City Tract To Oil Operator

DUNLAP OFFERS BOARD RENTAL OF $100 MONTH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 22.—The city is to lease the two acres at the corner of Hampshire and Coast highway to the D. D. Dunlap Oil company according to plans discussed last night by Mayor Tom B. Talbert and Councilman Willis H. Warner.

A meeting of the city council was scheduled to be held last night but three councilmen, John Marion, Anthony Tovatt and Lee C. Hansen were unable to attend. Mayor Talbert and Councilman Warner instructed City Attorney Ray Overacker to prepare a lease with the Dunlap Oil company and to present it to the council at the November meeting.

Dan Dunlap in conversations with Mayor Talbert offered to pay the city $100 a month rent, the lease providing for a one-sixth royalty with the usual 30-day offset drilling clause. The lease would run a year with the rent payable monthly in advance. The property is surrounded by the Mills Land and Water company lease on which Dunlap has one well producing and a second well drilling. The area is in the flat country between Huntington Beach and Newport Beach and near the coast line.

The city is to move the sewer plant on the two acres a half mile further away from Coast highway and install a modern plant. If the city should get a well on its sewer farm tract it would be the first oil royalty to come to the city treasury, although the oil field has been the center of an oil field for 18 years.

L. B. Gallery To Hold Show Soon

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 22.—Starting October 26, the Joseph Kleitich Academy of Fine Arts, through and Legion streets, will hold a show of one week, after which time the famous "White Boy" painting of Joseph Kleitich will be on exhibit. The background for this picture is the coast line of Laguna Beach, with a little boy dressed in white as its theme. The painting has been exhibited in France, England, Germany, Spain and many other European countries and has won many gold medal awards. Mrs. Kleitich stated that the picture will be sent to the embassy in Washington after its one month's showing in Laguna.

NEW OFFICERS SELECTED FOR FARM CENTER

YORBA LINDA, Oct. 22.—Don Munger last night was elected president of the Yorba Linda Farm center. J. W. Brown, vice president; S. L. Marshburn, retiring president, director on the Orange County Farm bureau, and A. A. Anderson, secretary.

The speaker of the evening was H. J. Ramsey, of the field department of the California Fruit Growers' exchange, who talked on "Enforcing the Standardization Laws in Citrus Industry."

After giving a background of the present standardization laws, and stating how Sunkist brands and Red Ball brands have a higher standard than the state law requires, the speaker said the future market for California citrus fruit depends on placing on the public markets fruit of uniform quality that people may depend on it.

He praised the work of packing house managers and growers in their co-operation with the exchange in bringing fruit to standard.

He urged growers to sponsor the study of the cause and the cure of granulation that destroys juice content of oranges and other citrus.

S. L. Marshburn presided at the business meeting. Dinner was served by women of the Methodist church at the Woman's clubhouse. Bert Shaw brought the directors' report.

After a report by Ralph McFadden, Shaw moved and the center approved endorsement of another water bond election. McFadden said the sewage reclamation project west of Santa Ana is open to the public for inspection from 12 to 5 p. m. each day and urged all to see the plant.

Harold Wahlberg, county farm adviser, said women of the farm bureau may meet the new home demonstration agent, Frances Liles, who will be at farm bureau headquarters November 1.

He announced that a co-opera-

Spanish Village Unlucky Spot For San Diego Youth

SAN CLEMENTE, Oct. 22.—San Clemente is an unlucky place for Richard Cates, San Diego youth. When Officer Earl Moore stopped a car on the highway Sunday on a "hunch" that it might be a stolen machine, he was surprised to find that the driver was the same youth he had arrested several months ago for theft of a car. The youth was released from a detention home Saturday and celebrated the occasion by taking a car belonging to G. G. Gunther of Santa Monica, Moore said.

Moore has nabbed a number of law violators by acting on "hunches." At the time he stopped the San Diego youth, the theft of the car had not been reported here.

Study Group To Meet Wednesday

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 22.—Mrs. Newell Moore, of Santa Ana, will give an illustrated talk to the study group of mothers of preschool children at the Washington school Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The study classes are being conducted under the auspices of the Grammar School P. T. A., with Mrs. C. G. Hall as local chairman.

CHAPTER TO MEET

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 22.—Garden Grove chapter of the Eastern Star will meet in regular session Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in K. of P. hall in Anaheim. Mrs. Alice T. Smith, associate matron, will give a report of the grand chapter held in Coronado last week.

A 4-H annual achievement day program will be given at Fremont auditorium, Anaheim, November 16, it was announced.

S. N. Rosedale was appointed chairman of a membership drive to be held the second week in November.

BREA PASTOR TO GIVE TALK ON ETHIOPIA

BREA, Oct. 22.—At the request of many who did not hear the address which he recently gave at the American Legion hall, the Rev. D. F. Gaylord will repeat his talk on the Ethiopian situation at the Wednesday night meeting in the Congregational church, bringing the topic down to date. Preceding this meeting a gathering of the board of trustees is to be held in the pastor's study at 6:30 p. m.

Other events scheduled for the week are the Brea Men's Brotherhood dinner at 6:30 Thursday evening with an address to be given by Dr. George Warner, of Santa Ana.

At 7:30 on Friday evening the Junior League of youth will hold a Halloween party in the social hall of the church. This group met on Sunday night to hear C. O. Harvey speak on their selected topic, "What Is War Like?" A social time followed the address.

Members of the Senior League of Youth met at the home of the pastor at 3:15 o'clock on Sunday evening from which point they went to Claremont to attend a meeting of the young people of the Congregational church.

Rev. Greer Named Pastor of Church

WESTMINSTER, Oct. 22.—The Rev. George Greer was named pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church by unanimous vote at Sunday morning's congregational meeting. The appointment is until April, the close of the church year.

The Rev. Mr. Greer will continue to live on his orange grove near Anaheim, but he and Mrs. Greer will devote their entire time to the local church.

Dr. John G. Klene, who resigned recently acted as moderator at the meeting.

The GOLDEN FEATHER by Robert Bruce

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JEAN DUNN, secretary to DONALD MONTAGUE, lawyer, delays her wedding to the young automobile salesman, asks Jean to marry him.

At the Golden Feather night club Jean meets SANDY HARKINS, whose business connection is vague. Sandy introduces Bobby and Jean to MR. LARRY LEWIS, and Sandy arranges to sell some bonds for Lewis. He tells them to Jean's employer.

LARRY LEWIS, federal agent, long a friend of Jean's parents, is trying to locate WING LEWIS, bank robber.

Sandy asks Jean to marry him and she promises to give him an answer after she returns from a vacation in her home town.

Larry locates some stolen bonds and questions SONNY BOYD, gambler. He tells them to DONALD MONTAGUE, NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVII

When Sonny Boyd left Larry Glenn's office that afternoon he hurried back to his cigar store and pool room in the east end, sweating profusely.

Reaching the place, he let himself into his little cubbyhole of an office and sank into his chair with a low groan. He rested his arms on his desk and stared at the opposite wall, heedless of the way his fingers were trembling. Then, noticing them at last, he opened a desk drawer, took out a bottle, and drank a stiff slug, putting the bottle away, he sat up straight, and, having apparently come to some decision in his own mind, he resolutely pressed a push button. The sallow-faced manager of the pool-room came in.

"Tell Turf Arnold to come in," ordered Boyd. The manager went out, and a moment later he ushered in a rather sleepy man whose placid face and old-fashioned steelrimmed spectacles made him look like anything but the underworld go-between he really was. He looked at Boyd with dull expectancy as the manager went out.

"Turf," said Boyd, "I want you to get word to Don Montague for me. Don't let him know you come from me, see? Don't even mention my name. Just get him and do this: tell him that Whiskers has traced those Atlas and Iron River bonds to him. Get it?"

Turf Arnold looked at him with-out curiosity and repeated the message.

"Do I know anything, if he asks me any questions?" he asked.

Boyd shook his head.

"Nothing," he said. "You just got word to give him the tip, that's all, and if he asks where you got it you tell him nothing, just that message is all: the G men know that he had those bonds, and they're going to be asking him where he got 'em."

Turf Arnold silently withdrew. Sonny Boyd stared darkly at the closed door, wiped his forehead with a colored handkerchief, took another stiff drink, and said, "Whee-eww!"

Turf Arnold was an excellent messenger. He sought out Donald Montague that evening, gave the message, played dumb at the proper points, and then went away—leaving the lawyer to walk thoughtfully up and down the floor of his library, stroking his chin and frowning meditatively.

The upshot of it all was that Larry Glenn's visit to Montague's office the next morning was not in the least unexpected, although the lawyer did not reveal this fact. He greeted Larry cordially, with just the expectant air that he would have worn if the visit had been a complete surprise, seated him in a comfortable chair, and shoved a silver-mounted cigar box across the desk toward him.

Larry came to the point promptly.

"Mr. Montague," he said, "the Division of Investigation has been working on that bank robbery down in Neola a month and a half ago. Some gunmen stuck up the National bank down there and made off with cash and securities worth $40,000. The securities were bonds, all duly registered; among them were some $20,000 in Atlas and Iron River gold five's. We've been able to trace some of them, and we are informed that $14,500 of them were sold by you during the past week."

He smiled and paused briefly, adding, "Can you tell me anything about it?"

Mr. Montague looked at him with an expression of mild surprise and utter candor.

"Atlas and Iron River gold five's?" he repeated. He wrinkled one eyebrow, as if searching his brain. "I believe I remember—let me have a look at my records, will you?"

"Go ahead," said Larry. Montague went over to a wall safe, drew out some memoranda, and seemed to be studying them thoughtfully for a few moments. Then he nodded, as if to say, "ah, yes—it's all quite clear now," and returned to his chair.

"You say those bonds were stolen from the Neola National bank, was it?" he asked. Larry nodded.

Montague looked at him, pained surprise registered on his face.

"Why—it can't be," he said softly. He shook his head slowly, as if contemplating some unnatural and unbelievable mischance.

"I assure you there's no mistake about it," said Larry.

Montague smiled.

"Oh, I accept your word, of course," he said. "It just doesn't seem possible, that's all."

He continued to shake his head slowly.

"I said those bonds—yes," he said frankly. "I don't mind confessing that I handled them somewhat—ah—surprisingly. I supposed there was sufficient reason to do so, but I never dreamed—"

He left the sentence unfinished and looked off out the window. Then he seemed to pull himself together. Raising his elbows on his desk he leaned forward slightly and looked Larry in the eye.

"It's a rather peculiar story, but I suppose you hear many such," he said, smiling just a little.

"There is a young man in this town whom I happen to know slightly; he's a friend of my secretary, in fact, and she's a fine young woman of whom I am rather fond. It seems the young man is deeply in love with her and wants to get enough of a stake, financially, to be able to marry her. I learned this, by the way, afterward, by subjecting the young woman of whom I am examination—"

Once more he paused. He gave the impression, not of hesitating in order to choose his words carefully, but of doing it as a man does when he is obliged to tell a story which will reflect upon another person in whom, heretofore, he has had the utmost confidence.

"I should add," he explained, "that up to the moment of the incident which I am about to describe, I did not know this young man. My secretary came to me one afternoon and—without without some slight embarrassment—asked me if I could arrange to see the young chap the next day. She said that he had some sort of business proposition to submit to me, and she apologized for bothering me about it. Being, as I said, fond of her—she's an admirable young woman—I consented."

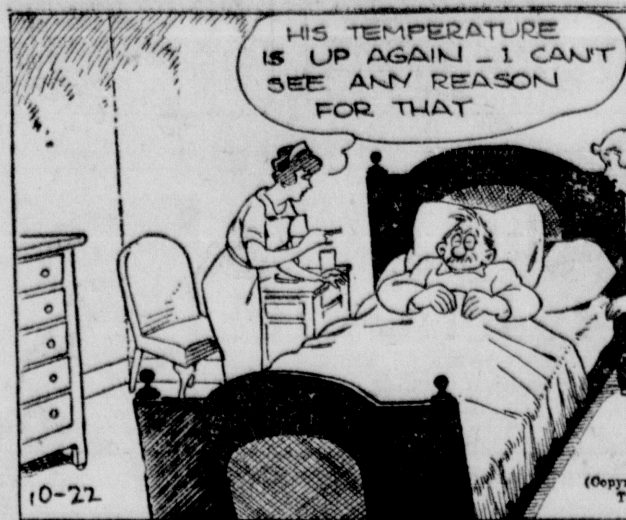

"The next day the young man came in. He was full of enthusiasm, and he had a very odd proposition to make. Briefly it was this:

"He had come into possession—or was about to—of these bonds; and it developed that they came originally from a Chicago politician, who had received them, in turn, from a Chicago gambler; whose activities were, or rather are, being investigated by the county grand jury out there. The bonds had been registered in the name of the gambler, and if they came on the open market it would reflect seriously on the politician. Therefore—"

He stopped and smiled ruefully.

"It's all rather complicated and incredible, isn't it?" he asked. Then he went on:

HARDLY A REAL INVESTIGATION

There is an alleged "investigation" of oil appropriation now going on in Huntington Beach. The question at issue is whether the Standard Oil wells are taking oil from the underground reservoir which belongs to the state. We say it is an "alleged investigation" and we use the word "alleged" advisedly. The issue, which has been raised in the committee by Senator Olson, is on the character of the source of the information which the committee is getting.

Senator Olson maintains that surveys made by men in the employ of the Standard Oil Company, which is subject to investigation, are not adequate information, upon which to base a judgment of whether they are taking the state oil or not.

This position is challenged by other men on the committee, the difficulties arising from the fact that after the committee had seen a certain engineer, to get him to work for them, he was employed by the Standard Oil company and it was his testimony that emphasized the difference.

A committee of three was appointed to go over the data of the company and report to the Senate committee. One of these men, the engineer, was employed by the Standard Oil Company itself.

The committee, apparently, is making this so-called "investigation" with an engineer supposedly under their direction, but employed by and paid for by the company which they are "investigating."

If anything could be more farcical and show a greater contempt for the intelligence of the public than this kind of an "investigation," we have yet to see it suggested.

We cannot believe that a committee could even claim good faith, using the professional experts in the employ of the one whom they are to investigate, from whom to elicit the facts.

If they do not intend to make an impartial and thorough investigation, by men who are not under the pay of the oil companies, they should just say so. They have that privilege, and, as honorable men, they should say so.

If they haven't money to employ competent engineers, who are not in the employ of those who are charged with the offense, then they should just acknowledge that they are not adequately supplied with funds and therefore cannot proceed.

But to "investigate," with witnesses paid by the opposition and therefore the ones who are under investigation practically paying for the "investigation," is worse than ridiculous.

In order to "cap" the whole procedure,—to make the farce completely monumental,—they should ask the president of the Standard Oil Company to write the report.

We cannot help, however, objecting to a misuse of public funds for such an examination as this. Why must the taxpayers pay any portion of such alleged "investigations"?

It is charged, here in the last few days, that there was $350,000 paid by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey to Bonfills of the Denver "Post," supposedly to pay for editorial opinion.

Unfortunately, oftentimes money buys opinions. But certainly we know enough of corporations to know that the chances are all against continuing men in their employ who have opinions against the interests which they would express in a lawsuit.

In fact, as we now recall, we have never known of a case where any such man gave any expert opinion or testimony against the employer's interest. We have very little doubt now as to what the report of the committee will be.

If this is the kind of procedure that shall continue, they might just as well have written their conclusions before convening the committee.

Unless there is a thorough investigation had, by a competent engineer, not under the control of the Standard Oil company, there will be unlimited suspicion and doubt as to any value of this report. Indeed, if the majority of the committee is of the opinion that it is the surveyor of the Standard Oil Company whose advice they should follow, not very much value would attach to the report of an engineer whom these men themselves would select.

ONE MAN'S BID FOR FAME

Arthur Gehrie of Watertown, Wisconsin, has gained a momentary publicity by announcing to the world that he will go to bed and stay there till next spring, in the hope that all the confusion of world problems will be righted by that time.

But why sleep till next spring? Why not sleep forever? When he rises from his bed next spring, he certainly will find all the old problems with us, with a new crop added.

We believe that time settles all problems, but nothing that history has revealed gives any promise that a problemless world is anything but a very distant and remote prospect.

One of our smaller religious groups has one article of its simple creed: "Progress onward and upward forever." Growth is one of the eternal laws of nature.

A really live man will not go to bed in a time like this. He will feel the thrill of battle within him. He will exercise his powers to achieve a better world than the one he entered.

It will not be for him an irksome and discouraging task. It will give to him a life full of zest and satisfactions. Every step forward will be to him an incentive to move forward another. And he will end with the poet, and say:

"I have gone the whole round of creation,
I speak as I saw;
I speak as a man may of God's world,
all's love, yet all's law.
The world is not for those who go to sleep

while the battle rages. The grave is the place for them. It is only for those who believe that tomorrow can be better than today, and what is dark today will be flooded with light tomorrow.

So to live is living. Pity it is that there are so many Arthur Gehries in the world. We pass them on the street every day, hundreds of them—mere vegetables—rooted in one spot.

ESSENTIAL RESOURCE

The news dispatches tell the sad story of a couple in Beverly Hills taking their own lives. The unusual facts about this particular incident were that there were no elements of need in this case. They had everything that money could furnish.

There was wealth, a beautiful home, servants, food in abundance, but ill health. This, money could not purchase.

They were discouraged with the fight. Life held no attraction with health gone. It emphasizes that money is not everything. Indeed, it brings out that money is nothing, without health.

Good health is everything, if rightly used. It would suggest that those of us who have no aches or pains, whose systems are in perfect working order, who are full of "pep" and power, ready to do a full day's work, have the things that are needful for real life.

Our real sympathies are hardly needed for those who have lost things material, providing they have the resource of their own body and mind left for tomorrow's effort.

Strengthening Football's Line
Christian Science Monitor

When Harvard's athletic committee recently caused the resignation of the varsity football captain, it was taking a courageous step. Some will feel that the fact that the young man was receiving financial aid for college expenses without approval of the athletic committee was a poor reason for asking him to turn in his uniform. And in the light of the coming season, the loss of its captain is not likely to strengthen the morale of the Harvard eleven.

Yet, far more important, the committee's action may help to raise the morale of the game as a whole. If the incident does nothing more than to bring again before the public the quasi-professional status of much college football, Harvard's seeming penalty will mean a 60-yard gain for the sport itself.

Few would criticize the extension of scholarships to good students who are also good athletes. But the basis on which aid was given in this case was open to question and therefore the committee could take only one action.

The subsidized player has become a traditional figure on many an American campus. He is virtually hired to participate in one or more sports. He may even be given a contract! He may or may not attend classes, according to the rigors of the college he is "attending." The college authorities have been largely responsible for the existence of such players. College football, due to its phenomenal glamour, has been one of the few sports to pay for itself. It has even made enough money to support other college athletics. Instead of realizing the potential danger of turning an undergraduate sport into a box-office attraction, some college authorities have exploited football, have demanded winning teams to bring fame to the college and cash to the general athletic fund.

Harvard should be highly commended for its stand. If more colleges and universities held this attitude, college football might resume its rightful role as a healthy undergraduate sport, and the financing of athletic and other college departments could be relegated to its rightful office.

Knowing And Sharing
Christian Science Monitor

When Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler told the freshman class of Columbia College the other day that selfishness never walked with education, he undoubtedly meant that it had no companionship with true culture. For if education implies merely the accumulation of much world knowledge, then, of course, history is rather full of men who had it but whose careers were more Machiavellian than altruistic.

In characteristic straight-from-the-shoulder language, Dr. Butler declared: "Who thinks only of himself is hopelessly uneducated. He is not educated, no matter how instructed he may be." Conversely it may be said that the unselfish cannot be uneducated. Unrecorded in "the short and simple annals of the poor," innocent of all scholastic advantage, are the unobtrusive deeds of countless unnumbered, unselfed men and women, the sweet fragrance of whose lives made happier their little worlds. Surely of such it must be written that they possessed the truest culture.

The charge is made, and with too good reason, that religion is scorned in the schools, that atheism rides high in many American colleges. Materialistic faculties would do well to ponder Dr. Butler's charge to his freshmen that selfishness and self-centeredness are the greatest enemies of human progress. They might recall the words of Israel Zangwill, "Selfishness is the only atheism," and wonder what claim to education their curricula possess.

Many centuries ago a man, speaking out of the fullness of his own experience, declared: And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge . . . and have not charity, I am nothing. (1 Cor. 13:2.)

That was the truth then. It is the truth now.

Right To King's Highway
San Francisco Chronicle

Even the London Times is puzzled at times to understand the Englishman. It is puzzled right now.

It is all about what the Times calls the "pedal cyclists." Last year, while pedestrian motor accidents increased only 1 per cent over the figures for the previous year, the number of cyclists killed and injured on the highways increased over 44 per cent. The Government decided something had to be done about it. The Ministry of Transport began to make special paths for cyclists.

Then the storm broke. At a "protest meeting" in Hyde Park the bicyclists protested the action of the Government and demanded that no more special lanes be constructed. Dramatizing the protest, 500 cyclists defiantly rode down the main highway. Into the jaws of death rode the 500, as the Times puts it. The ground of the protest? The cyclists insist that as Englishmen they have an equal right to the King's highway. They represent segregation.

It is, says the Times, one of those incidents that delight the foreigner with a glimpse of English absurdity.

No doubt, and yet it is a fault only in that it is an excess of the spirit that has made the Englishman the most individual and independent of men. It is one reason why the Englishman can't be regimented. The incident should interest Lloyd George. It bodes ill for his New Deal.

HOPE DIES HARD

I am not very deft with my putter.
But I trust I shall master it soon.
Untold imprecations I mutter
While handling a driver or spoon.
I say every day
That no more shall I play
At the fool avocation, and then—
Some uncontrolled force
Drives me out on the course,
And lo! I am at it again.

I have read every book that's been written
By golfers who've risen to fame;
And though I am weak as a kitten,
I am sure I shall master the game.
I still slice and hook,
I drive pills in the brook,
"Which in Scotland is known as the burn,"
I practice at night
By the sitting room light,
But nary a thing do I learn.

People tell me that golf is a habit
And it's easy to get it down time;
But I haven't the chance of a rabbit
To make it a habit of mine.
I yet nurse the hope
As I struggle and grope
And utter loud, unhappy moans,
That before very long
I'll be going so strong
I can challenge—well, say Bobby Jones.

BEWARE!

If those colored boys in Ethiopia are anything like Joe Louis, Mr. Mussolini's lads are going to have a lot of trouble with them.

THEY NEITHER WORK VERY WELL

T. R.'s square deal and Franklin's new deal are about equally effective as far as results are concerned.

A friend is a person or nation that gets some kind of profit from us.

Nature evens things. Oil settles troubled waters and unsettles troubled lands.

It is easy to hook the fellow who thinks he can't be flattered. You just praise his toughness.

How do they know Louis can take it when they haven't yet found anybody to give it.

Most laws seem reasonable till silly cops try to enforce them against nice people like us.

TACT IS LARGELY A MATTER OF CONCEALING WHAT YOU THINK OF OTHER PEOPLE.

You can tell how much a new race track is making. Ask the local grocers how much people owe them.

The savage Ethiopian doesn't need the blessings of civilization. He is already jobless and broke.

Dixie is the region where the cook will own that old blue dress of yours when she works three more weeks.

AMERICANISM: Five million jobless men unable to support families; thirteen million women holding jobs.

A hick town is a place where a deadbeat can still get credit because his wife and children are so nice.

Social drama: (1) "That mean man pays his workers only $1 a day." (2) "That greedy worker I hired made me pay him $1 a day."

1895: Nice girl won't go with a boy who smokes cigarettes. 1935: Nice boy won't go with a girl who smokes cigarettes.

THE OLD BOOKS ARE BEST. THE AUTHORS WERE TRYING TO PRODUCE LITERATURE INSTEAD OF MOVIE MATERIAL.

We're glad to see business having a breathing spell, but some of it seems to need something for halitosis.

It isn't true that we have too much of everything. There's always an eager demand for more sucker traps.

Providence is helping. New Dealers tried to reduce the crop, and drought has caused a world shortage.

Anyway, Louis has shown that he can lick any man who won't fight back.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "WE DON'T LIKE OUR NEW IN-LAW," SAID SHE, "BUT WE'LL NEVER LET HIM SUSPECT IT."

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

PROPAGANDA IN UNIVERSITIES

Yesterday I spoke of the lush growth in recent years in American universities of student groups which reflect the long array of propagandist groups outside the universities.

These student groups range all the way from the National Student League, on the extreme left, to the Vigilantes, on the extreme right.

All these groups, even those who are interested in doctrines I consider dangerously wrong-headed, may be very useful if they are kept in their place as part of the process of educating the student and not made into partisan propagandist agencies.

What should be the main business of a student during his four college years?

What is the fundamental duty a university owes its students?

As far as the purely intellectual side of education is concerned, the fundamental duty a university owes its students is to discipline their judgments, to help them master the difficult art of weighing evidence and arriving at rational conclusions regarding the life of their time, to emancipate them from the corroding influences of prejudice, passion and partisanship.

This is what the whole community of a university comes together for.

The teachers are there to direct this business of intellectual discipline; the students are there to subject themselves to this discipline.

This means, I think, that universities should give students the utmost freedom to meet together in groups to study this or that philosophy of affairs, permit them to invite the representatives of all sorts of philosophies to walk across their platforms, tell their stories, argue their cases, and submit to cross examination by the students—all in the honest quest for understanding.

It is an open question whether equal freedom should be granted to such groups when they become frankly agencies of closed-minded partisan propagandas. I think not.

BORROWING CAUSES TROUBLE

"Why, Donald, why are you wearing that filthy thing?"

"It was either that or come home wearing nothing to keep me warm."

"Where's your own sweater?"

"Somebody must have borrowed it from my locker."

"Outrageous! I've bought you two sweaters so far this term and now you come home in a thing like that. Borrowed? Stole it, you mean. Borrowing, that is never returned, is stealing. That's what it is."

"Shucks, Ma. Don't make such a fuss. All the fellows borrow from each other."

"I must confess that I don't catch the idea. You get back your sweater. I'm not going to stand by and have your things stolen."

"But, mother, it isn't stealing."

"Listen to me. If your sweater doesn't come home in good condition I'm going to school, and somebody is going to pay for it. And now that I think of it, what happened to your shoes and your carbon paper? Borrowing, indeed!"

"Please, Ma, stay away from school or the fellows'll think I'm a crab."

"If you mean I am to take this thing in a fine, brotherly spirit, I'm afraid I can't."

Many young people in high school like to borrow. If they haven't what they want and they see anybody else with it they borrow it. Nothing easier. Especially as there are many young people who like to grant favors. They enjoy the power that enables them to grant or to withhold. Granting makes them popular, bringing them thanks and smiles and respectful salutations. It feels good to be generous. And then, too, borrowing and lending have cheerful friendly traits tied to them. They are so human. But the consequences are not pleasant. The habit of borrowing freely without thought of returning, without thought of responsibility towards the lender is a very unsafe practice. Equally objectionable is the habit of easy lending. The borrower may take without your leave and the lender may give without reason or common sense. Both end in bewilderment and grief. Usually the community ownership which some children like to practice is one-sided. The one who has, lends; and the one who hasn't, borrows or takes. Both are weakened by the practice.

It is much safer and far wiser to teach the young people, and that means you begin teaching the small children first, to use what they have. Teach them that it is better to do without than to borrow. Not that borrowing is in itself immoral, but it is a habit easily formed and once formed it is hard to break. I would not have you think that I object to friendly helpfulness between children, but I object to a child's using what he wants without responsibility.

Here and There

It has been estimated that an ordinary giant puffball contains 6,000,000,000 spores.

Approximately $240,000,000 is spent annually in the United States for news, light reading, and literature.

Chinese mandarins were eating corn on the cob as early as 1573, according to records published at that time. They were also eating succotash long before moderns mixed lima beans with corn.

There are approximately 47,000,000 people in this country 18 years old or more who are able to work, figuring on the basis of the 1930 census.

Less than 10 pounds of paper is used by the average Russian annually, while the average American uses his weight in paper in the course of a year.

More than $4,500,000,000 was paid as fire insurance premiums in the United States during the five years ended with 1933.

Taxes paid in this country amount to more than $9,500,000,000, or one-fifth of the national income, annually.

The Mason and Dixon line has been found, by modern surveys, to be as much as 400 feet from its correct location, but to correct it now would necessitate changing of other boundaries throughout the United States.

The smallest known star is about the size of the earth.

So highly were books thought of in France during the 16th century that many book-lovers dyed their clothes the same color as their favorite books, as a symbol of their great esteem for them.
